Contents

| | Acknowledgments | X |
|---------|---|------|
| | List of Abbreviations | xiii |
| I | Introduction | 1 |
| II | Land, society, and economy in the Malinche | |
| | communities | 7 |
| II.0 | Introduction | 7 |
| II.1 | The landscape and the towns | 9 |
| II.2 | Political, religious, and social organization | 15 |
| II.3 | Making a living | 22 |
| II.4 | The economics of ritual | 30 |
| II.5 | The world outside | 37 |
| II.6 | The structural position of the people of the Malinche | |
| | in regional, national, and world systems | 43 |
| III | Studying a syncretic way of speaking | 55 |
| III.0 | The concept of syncretism | 55 |
| III.1 | Models for the study of syncretic language | 58 |
| | Mexicano orthography and the representation of | |
| | Mexicano text | 61 |
| III.2.1 | Orthography | 61 |

Contents

| III.2.2 | Representation of text | 66 |
|---------|--|-----|
| III.3 | The sociolinguistic survey of the Malinche towns | 67 |
| IV | The frames for speaking Mexicano | 90 |
| IV.0 | Introduction | 90 |
| IV.1 | The name "Mexicano" | 90 |
| IV.2 | Tlahtōl: 'Speech, language, word' | 93 |
| IV.3 | 'We speak two': the worth of bilingualism | 96 |
| IV.4 | Error and mixing: The zone of imperfection | 97 |
| IV.5 | The power code and Spanish | 99 |
| IV.6 | The purist code and Mexicano folk etymology | 122 |
| | The concept 'speaker of a language' | 141 |
| IV.8 | Mexicano honorific usage | 144 |
| V | Lexical borrowing and phonological | |
| | convergence | 156 |
| V.0 | Introduction | 156 |
| | Borrowing Spanish verbs | 158 |
| V.2 | Borrowing Spanish nouns | 162 |
| V.3 | Borrowing Spanish modifiers: adjectives | 170 |
| | Borrowing Spanish modifiers: adverbs | 175 |
| | Borrowing Spanish.particles | 177 |
| | Borrowing Spanish affixes | 194 |
| V.7 | Phonological incorporation of Spanish loans | 197 |
| | Introduction | 197 |
| V.7.1 | Nativization of consonants and vowels | 199 |
| V.7.2 | Stress Shift | 212 |
| V.8 | Spanish loan frequency | 222 |
| VI | Syntactic convergence | 233 |
| VI.0 | Introduction | 233 |
| VI.1 | Word order | 234 |
| VI.1.1 | Position of the verb | 234 |
| VI.1.2 | Position of adjectives | 237 |

| | | Contents |
|----------|---|----------|
| VI.1.3 | Position of nouns in possessive constructions | 241 |
| VI.1.4 | Postpositions become prepositions | 247 |
| VI.2 | ? From polysynthesis to analysis | 249 |
| | Introduction | 249 |
| VI.2.1 | Noun-incorporating verbs | 250 |
| VI.2.2 | Directional purposives | 259 |
| VI.3 | Agreement between nouns and modifiers | 266 |
| VI.4 | The introduction of relative pronouns | |
| | in Malinche usage | 276 |
| VI.5 | Impersonal constructions with $c\bar{e}$ and mo - | 288 |
| VI.6 | Spanish de and que | 293 |
| VI.6.1 | Spanish de | 293 |
| VI.6.2 | Spanish que | 316 |
| VI.7 | Miscellaneous convergences in ways of speaking | 334 |
| VI.7.1 | The convergence of greeting formulae | 334 |
| VI.7.2 | Other loan translations and loan blends | 340 |
| VII | Code-switching into Spanish | 345 |
| VII.0 | Introduction | 345 |
| VII.1 | The linguistic differences between | |
| | borrowing and code-switching | 346 |
| VII.2 | Functions of code-switching | 356 |
| VII.3 | A translinguistic approach to code-switching | 387 |
| VIII | Community solidarity without Mexicano | 402 |
| | Introduction | 402 |
| VIII.1 | Why the syncretic project is collapsing | 403 |
| VIII.2 | Language shift and community solidarity | 410 |
| VIII.2.0 | Introduction | 410 |
| VIII.2.1 | Language choice, distance, and intimacy | 412 |
| VIII.2.2 | The terminology of ethnic differentiation in Mexico | 414 |
| VIII.2.3 | The rhetoric of continuity and | |
| | the rhetoric of discontinuity | 417 |

Contents

| IX Epilogue | 441 |
|--|-----|
| Appendix A. The interview administered | |
| in the Malinche towns | 449 |
| Appendix B. List of speakers | 456 |
| References cited | 461 |
| Index | 477 |
| Index of Speakers | 491 |