

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Foreword, by A. R. Luria . . . . .	vii
I. The Problem . . . . .	1
II. The Course of Study . . . . .	11
1. The Methods of Study . . . . .	11
2. The Ascertaining Experiment . . . . .	22
3. The Forming Experiment . . . . .	29
Stage I. Formation of the Orientational Basis of Action . . . . .	30
Stage II. Materialized Action . . . . .	57
Stage III. Action on the Plane of Loud Speech . . . . .	124
Stage IV. Action for Oneself . . . . .	164
4. The Control Experiment . . . . .	185
III. Discussion of the Obtained Results . . . . .	205
1. On the Role of External Supports . . . . .	205
2. A Characterization of the Transformation of the Action of a Child according to the Parameter of Shortening . . . . .	209
3. The Relations between the Ordinal and Cardinal Types of Analysis . . . . .	216
4. Change in the Nature of Orientation in the Process of Forming an Action according to the Analysis of Words . . . . .	228
5. The Psychological Analysis of the Errors of the Subjects . . . . .	240
Conclusions . . . . .	267
Bibliography . . . . .	269