

Contents

| | |
|---|-----|
| Acknowledgements | vi |
| General introduction | vii |
| Part I Computers in linguistic and literary research | 1 |
| 1 An introduction to the computer | 2 |
| 2 The scope of linguistic and literary computing | 12 |
| 3 Some useful package programs | 36 |
| Part II The SNOBOL4 programming language | 79 |
| 4 Basic concepts | 80 |
| 5 Pattern matching | 85 |
| 6 Program structure, layout and input/output | 98 |
| 7 Three complete programs | 108 |
| 8 Built-in functions | 118 |
| 9 Arithmetic and predicates | 130 |
| 10 More built-in functions, patterns and operators | 139 |
| 11 Programmer-defined functions | 154 |
| 12 Arrays, tables and programmer-defined data types | 166 |
| 13 Debugging a SNOBOL4 program | 186 |
| 14 SNOBOL4 as a research tool: two examples | 202 |
| Appendix: Model answers to exercises | 227 |
| Bibliography | 248 |
| Index | 258 |