

CONTENTS

Acknowledgements xi

PART 1 The Dragons' Den story

CHAPTER 1 What is Dragons' Den? 2

- Why this show? 3
- Dragons' Den* – a global phenomenon 3
- The brilliant title of the show 4
- The stars of the show 5
- Ask the audience 5
- The money is fake! 6
- What happened to that one? 7
- The Dragons' Den website 7
- Brilliant TV 8

CHAPTER 2 Meet the Dragons ... and the teddy bear 9

- The current Dragons: Profiles 9
- Dragons' Den* – free publicity or real life? 26

CHAPTER 3 The real Dragons' Den experience 29

- The application process 29
- The day of filming 30
- After the filming 32
- Between filming and the TV programme being aired 32
- The days following the show 33
- Real experiences in the Den 35

CHAPTER 4 Dragons' Den versus the real world of private investment 39

- The pitch 40
- About the money 41
- The real benefit of Dragons' Den? 42
- Are the Dragons like real private investors? 42
- Final thoughts 43

CHAPTER 5 Nova-Flo: A case study on how Dragons' Den compares with the real world of business angel investment 45

PART 2 How to raise money from investors

CHAPTER 6 Do I need a dragon? 50

Remember selling shares in your business is the most expensive money you can raise 51

Is your business really a lifestyle business? 52

How much money do you really need? 53

Is my business more suitable for bank debt? 54

Should I sell something so I have the money for my business? 55

Help! I need money really quickly 55

I still need the money, so when is my business right for business angels? 56

CHAPTER 7 Why a dragon is good for you 57

What investors can do for you 57

The benefits and pitfalls of having a group of investors as your shareholders 62

CHAPTER 8 Will a dragon want me? 67

Are you a business with potential for explosive growth? 67

Is your business in the right sector? 68

Is your business protectable? 70

Is your business at the right stage? 71

Do you have the right management team? 72

Do you have the right business model? 73

Is your business ready for investment? 74

Are you personally ready for investment? 74

Can investors supply all the money you need? 74

How much will it cost to raise money from dragon investors? 75

What is your business worth at the time you seek investment? 75

Is the market ready to give you investment? 77

What is going to happen to your dragon investors if you raise money from a venture capitalist in the future? 77

CHAPTER 9 How to find a dragon 79

Routes for finding a dragon 79

CHAPTER 10 Befriending your dragon 87

Making a successful approach 87

CHAPTER 11 Opening up to a dragon 91

The executive summary – the first document you will normally send out 91

	The Non-disclosure Agreement (NDA)	93
	The business plan	93
	'Due diligence' meetings with investors	94
	Keeping investors up-to-date while due diligence is taking place	96
CHAPTER 12	How to impress a dragon	99
	Deciding who should present	100
	Before the presentation day	100
	On the day	101
	Before the pitch starts	102
	Making the pitch	103
	Immediately after the presentation	105
	Networking a room successfully	107
	After the presentation event	107
CHAPTER 13	Striking a deal with a dragon	109
	Timing is everything	109
	Keeping up the good work	110
	The negotiation timetable	110
	Valuation	114
	The terms of the deal	115
	Control – the other major issue to think about when negotiating the deal	118
	Exit terms	118
CHAPTER 14	Closing a deal with a dragon	121
	Steps between an offer and your company receiving the money	121
CHAPTER 15	How to live happily ever after with a dragon	129
	Changing your own approach	129
	Confidentiality	130
	Reporting	130
	Opening your investor's address book	131
	Working in the business	132
	Helping with further rounds of fundraising	132
	Help with tactical issues facing the business	133
CHAPTER 16	Making your dragons some money	135
	Timescales for achieving a liquidity event	135
	Fees	135
	Expenses	136
	Loan repayments	136
	Dividends	136
	Sale of the shares	136
	One shareholder selling to another shareholder	137
	Selling the whole business via a trade sale	137

Floating the business	138
Management buy-out	139
Selling a business at the right time	139
Getting a return by closing down the business	139
What happens if the business fails	139

CHAPTER 17 What to do if your dragon turns bad 141

Investors who do not deliver on their promises	141
Investors who are too mean or greedy	141
Investors who resist the company raising more money	142
Investors who interfere in the running of the business or just take over	143
Investors who cause trouble amongst the management team	144
Investors who invest in competing businesses	144
Investors who have rows with each other and then involve the company	144
Investors who try to 'kill' the business or demand an exit at all cost	144
Final thoughts	146

PART 3 How to become an investor

CHAPTER 18 Meeting the real dragons 148

Assumption 1: Private investors are just like the Dragons on Dragons' Den	148
Assumption 2: You have to be incredibly rich to be a private investor	149
Assumption 3: You have to invest loads of money to be an investor	150
Assumption 4: Private investors only invest in businesses like Google or Facebook, not in normal businesses	151
Assumption 5: Private investors only invest in tiny start-ups	151
Assumption 6: Private investors only invest close to home	152
Assumption 7: Private investors like to invest alone	152
Assumption 8: Private investors are hobby investors who do not take their investments seriously	153
Assumption 9: Private investors are not open to new things	153
Assumption 10: All private investors are men	154
Assumption 11: All investors are old	154
Assumption 12: All investors are the same	154
Which type of private investor could you be?	155

CHAPTER 19 We are the real dragons 159

Giving something back	160
-----------------------	-----

Using your business skills	160
Testing your own self-belief	160
Investing your money in a new way	161
Intellectual satisfaction	161
Beating the odds	161
Occupying your time	161
Building a portfolio of non-executive directorships	163
Hanging out with new groups of great people	163
Access to exclusive offers and opportunities	164
Making money – lots of money!	164
What a real-life investment profile looks like	165

CHAPTER 20 Feeding a dragon's hunger 179

Matching services (especially online)	180
Business angel networks that arrange presentation events	180
Investor clubs that provide a full service proposition	182
Other types of networks	182
Other places to find deals	183
Entrepreneurial networking events	184
Being proactive	185

CHAPTER 21 I'm in! 187

Investment strategies	187
If in doubt – out!	188
Spotting the good and bad signs	188
The team	189
The vision	190
The business plan	191
Intangible value in the business	191
The financial model	193
The financial projections	195
Ten baggers	197
Paperwork, paperwork	198
Valuation	199
Investing in the right sectors, at the right stage, and alongside the right people	200
And last, but not least, gut instinct!	205

CHAPTER 22 Striking the deal 207

Types of deal	207
What you must achieve before you hand over your money	207
Investing at the right valuation	208
Structuring the deal to get the best return you can	210
The negotiation process	212
Before you start negotiations	213
Entering into the negotiations	214

CHAPTER 23 The hard work starts now 221

Types of investor 221

Taking a job 223

CHAPTER 24 Making money 225

Timescales 225

Private investment theory 226

Getting your cash back 226

Dividends 227

Loan repayments 228

Selling your shares 228

Selling the assets of the business and closing down the company 230

Closing down the company and distributing the net cash and assets to the shareholders 231

Fees and earnings 231

CHAPTER 25 When St George beats the dragon 233

The first sign that something is going wrong 234

What to do next 234

Disaster scenarios 234

And after disaster there is hope! 238

Final thoughts 239

PART 4 Appendices

Appendix 1 243

Some famous companies and the individuals who have backed them 243

Appendix 2 245

Twenty key questions business angels should ask and entrepreneurs should answer 245

Appendix 3 247

Enterprise Investment Scheme (EIS) an outline by Vantis plc. 247
Conclusion 249

Appendix 4 251

Business angel networks 251

Glossary of terms 255