

CONTENTS

Foreword.....	9
Introduction	11

A. Advances in Theory and Fields of Investigation

1. Sabine C. Koch Interdisciplinary embodiment approaches. Implications for creative arts therapies.....	17
2. Malvern Lumsden The affective self and affect regulation in dance movement therapy.....	29
3. Päivi Pylvänäinen The tri-partite model for body image and its application on experiences in butoh.....	40
4. Sharon W. Goodill Dance/movement therapy for people living with medical illness.....	52

B. Advances in Empirical Studies

5. Elana Mannheim & Joachim Weis Dance/movement therapy with cancer patients. Evaluation of process and outcome parameters.....	61
6. Eva Bojner Horwitz Evaluating DMT in fibromyalgia patients. Consequences of verbal, visual and hormonal analyses.....	73
7. Iris Bräuninger Dance movement therapy group process. Content Analysis of short term treatment programs.....	87
8. Claire Moore Dance movement therapy in the light of trauma. Research findings of a multidisciplinary project.....	104

9. Sabine C. Koch

- Gender and leadership at work. Use of rhythms and movement qualities in team communication.....116

C. Advances in Nonverbal Parent-Child Interaction

10. Silvia Birklein & K. Marc Sossin

- Nonverbal indices of stress in parent-child dyads. Implications for individual and interpersonal affect regulation and intergenerational transmission.....128

11. Maria Gabriela Sbiglio

- Dance/movement therapy and nonverbal assessment of family violence.
A pilot comparative study.....142

D. Advances in Single Case and Group Case Studies

12. Helle Winther

- From crocodile to woman. The multidimensionality and energy dynamics of movement seen in light of the dance therapy form Dansergia.....154

13. Heather Hill

- Dance therapy as person centered care.....166

14. Maria Eugenia Lacour

- Dance/movement therapy. A resource for oncology patients and an approach to comprehensive patient care.....177

15. Meg Chang

- How do dance/movement therapists bring awareness of race, ethnicity, and cultural diversity into their practice?.....192