

Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction	ix
1 Embodied Ethical Life and the Threat of Cognitive Imperialism in African Contexts	1
2 Hayford, Balewa, and the Representation of African Culture and Society	33
3 Articulations of Empire and Hatred of the Other Man in Hazoumé's Doguiçimi	53
4 History, Fable, and Syncretism in Fagunwa's Forest of a Thousand Daemons	75
5 The Ordeal of Cognitive Imperialism in Tutuola's Early Fiction	101
6 Pre-Colonial History and Anticolonial Politics in Achebe's Things Fall Apart	133
Conclusion	165
Bibliography	169
Index	187