

Table of Contents

Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction
Norma Bouchard and Veronica Pravadelli	1
I. SEMIOTICS, PHILOSOPHY OF LANGUAGE, AND THEORY OF INTERPRETATION	23
1 Individual and Communal Encyclopedias Patrizia Violi	25
2 The Search for the Perfect Sign: Eco, Vico, and the Destiny of Rhetoric in European Culture Davide Del Bello	39
3 Hermeneutic Aspects of Eco's Later Works Peter Carravetta	63
4 The Limitations of Openness: Foucault's Pendulum and Kabbalah Helen Bennett	81
5 Desperately Seeking Satan: Witchcraft and Censorship in The Name of the Rose Walter Stephens	99
II. WRITING (POST)MODERN FICTIONS: THE AMBIVALENT STATUS OF KNOWLEDGE	127
6 Libraries, Encyclopedias, and Rhizomes: Popularizing Culture in Eco's Superfictions Rocco Capozzi	129

7	Eco's (Post)modernist Fictions Remo Ceserani	147
8	Eco's Echoes: Ironizing the (Post)Modern Linda Hutcheon	163
9	P.S. "I Love You": Umberto Eco and The Romance of the Reader Diane Elam	185
III. POPULAR CULTURE: IDEOLOGY, CONSUMPTION, RESISTANCE		209
10	Cultural Theory and Popular Culture: From Structuralism to Semiotics Peter Bondanella	211
11	Between Shelves and Columns: Scattered Fragments of a Semiotic Discourse Maurizio Rebaudengo	225
12	Eco's Fifth Column: The Critic of Culture Within the Precincts of the Popular Christine Ann Evans	241
13	Cinema and the Question of Reception Francesco Casetti and Barbara Grespi	257
Afterword
	How and Why I Write Umberto Eco	281
IV. BIBLIOGRAPHY		303
	Selected Bibliography of Umberto Eco's Works	305
	Selected Critical References to Umberto Eco and His Works	309
V. EDITOR'S and CONTRIBUTORS' BIONOTES		315