

Contents

Preface	ix
---------	----

INTRODUCTION

Truth and Interpretation in the Divine Comedy

1

1. Historicity of Truth	5
2. Truth through Interpretation and the Hermeneutic of Faith	14
A Hermeneutic of Faith	18
3. Interpretive Ontology: Dante and Heidegger	23
Note on Heideggerian Vocabulary	34

CHAPTER ONE

The Address to the Reader

37

1. The Ontological Import of the Address to the Reader	37
Dante's Address to the Reader and Apostrophe in General	47
2. Reader's Address as Scene of the Production of Sense	51
Rediscovery of the Ontological Significance of the Sign	58
A Word about Metaphysics	61
3. Truth, Sendings, Being Addressed: Deconstruction versus Hermeneutics or Dialogue with Derrida?	62
4. A Philological Debate: Auerbach and Spitzer	71
5. Petrarch, Boccaccio, and the Fiction of Philology	76

CHAPTER TWO

Dante's Hermeneutic Rite of Passage: Inferno IX

82

1 Blockage	82
Hell as Interpretive Impasse in the Wake of Inferno IX	92
2. Passage	100
3. Ambiguities	109
4. Appendix: Hermeneutics, Phenomenology, and the Meaning of a Modern Understanding of Dante	113

CHAPTER THREE

The Temporality of Conversion

119

- |   |     |
|---|-----|
| 1. Interpretation as Ontological Repetition and Dante's Fatedness | 119 |
| 2. Ecstatic and Repetitive Temporality                            | 128 |
| 3. Phenomenology of Fear/Anxiety in Inferno I              | 135 |
| 4. Dantesque Allegory and the Act of Understanding                | 144 |

CHAPTER FOUR

The Making of History

152

- |   |     |
|---|-----|
| 1. Relocating Truth: From Historical Sense to Reader's Historicity                    | 152 |
| 2. Reality and Realism in Purgatorio X   | 171 |
| 3. Some History (and a Reopening) of the Question of the Truth of the Commedia | 177 |
| Hermeneutic Experience and Truth: The Cases of Syncretism and Fallible Judgment       | 185 |

CHAPTER FIVE

Resurrected Tradition and Revealed Truth

191

- |   |     |
|---|-----|
| 1. Dante's Status                                       | 191 |
| Historicity and Transcendence                           | 203 |
| "La divina fiamma"                                      | 209 |
| "Secol si rinnova"                                      | 213 |
| Art and Immortality                                     | 216 |
| 2. Hermeneutics, Historicity, and Suprahistorical Truth | 224 |

RECAPITULATORY PROSPECTUS

A New Hermeneutic Horizon for Religious Revelation in Poetic Literature?

233

- |  |     |
|--|-----|
| Core Bibliography of Recurrently Cited Sources | 239 |
| Index  | 243 |