

Contents

Acknowledgments	viii
Introduction	1
PART 1
Evil, theodicy and defense	7
1 On regretting the evils of this world	9
2 Suffering, soul-making and salvation	23
3 The sceptical solution to the problem of evil	43
4 The necessity of gratuitous evil	58
5 Can God permit “just enough” evil?	80
PART 2
Theories of providence	95
6 The openness of God	97
7 Providence and evil: Three theories	109
8 The God who takes risks	125
9 The problem of evil in process theism and classical free-will theism	136
10 Antinomies of divine providence	151
11 The freedom and goodness of God	166
Appendix: Replies to my critics	187
Selected bibliography	231
Index	234