

Contents

Preface	xi
Prologue: A Regio Incognita	xv
1 Toward a Geography and History of the Public Realm	1
Preliminaries	2
Mapping the Public Realm:
A Rudimentary Geography	10
Notes on the History of the Public Realm	15
Commissions and Omissions:
An Overview and Some Caveats	17
 PART I CHARACTERISTICS OF THE PUBLIC REALM: ASPECTS OF A SOCIAL TERRITORY
2 The Normative or "Legal" System: Patterns and Principles	25
Introduction:
The Patterning of Public Realm Interaction	25
Principles of Stranger Interaction	27
Complex "Legal" Patterning:
Some Lessons from History and Culture	42
Conclusion:
Misreadings and Misunderstandings	44

3	The Relational Web: Persons, Places, Connections	51
	Person-to-Person Connections	51
	Person-to-Place Connections	63
	Opportunity and the Relational Web: Time, Space, and Change	71
4	A City "Garden of Earthly Delights": Esthetic and Interactional Pleasures	77
	Introduction:
	Pleasures in Public?	77
	Sources of Esthetic Pleasure	78
	Sources of Interactional Pleasures	86
	Designing for Pleasure	96
	 PART II OPPONENTS OF THE PUBLIC REALM: ASSAULTS ON A SOCIAL TERRITORY
5	Antiurbanism and the Representational War on the Public Realm	101
	Cain's Creation:
	The Long Tradition of Antiurbanism	101
	The Depravity of the City's "Streets":
	Ganging Up on the Public Realm	113
	The Defenders Strike Back	133
	 Fear, Loathing, and Personal Privatism	143
	Enabling and Evaluating Privatism	143
	Fueling Privatism?
	Negative Emotions and Secluded Lives	151
	From Antiurbanism to Fear and Loathing to Privatism and Back Again?	168

7	Control by Design: The Architectural Assault on the Public Realm	179
	Countering Sociology's "Agoraphobia": The Spatial "Structuring" of Interaction	180
	Control by Regulation and Control by Design: A Brief Overview	188
	Destructive Design: Building the "Private City"	195
	Sanitary Design: The Creation of the Counterlocale	208
	More Looping Back: Designed Space and Cityphobia	220
8	Uses of the Public Realm	229
	Cityphiles and the Evocation of Value	230
	An Inventory of Utility	231
	Epilogue: The Future of the Public Realm	247
	References	251
	Index	299