

Contents

Figures and tables	vii
Acknowledgements	ix
Foreword	xi

PART ONE

THE BACKDROP

1	Introduction	3
2	Racism	10
3	Changing ideologies and the development of the juvenile justice system in England and Wales	20
4	Social Inquiry Reports: Historical developments and literature review	52
5	The juvenile justice system and 'race'	74

PART TWO

NEGATIVE IMAGES

6	Wolverhampton, social services and the local juvenile justice system	101
7	Research methodology	108
8	Quantitative research	113
9	Qualitative research	130
10	Summary of findings and recommendations	144

APPENDICES

Appendix 1	Case information form	153
Appendix 2	Social Inquiry Report Content Analysis Exercise	155
	Bibliography	167

Figures and tables

Table 8.1	Comparison of the number of cases by age	113
Table 8.2	Comparison of the ethnicity of the Wolverhampton population aged 10-17 and the court sample	114
Table 8.3	Sentences imposed in Wolverhampton Juvenile Court, 1990: a comparison with data for England and Wales, 1989	115
Table 8.4	Comparisons of sample and high tariff disposals by 'race'	116
Table 8.5	Comparison of offences by 'race'	118
Table 8.6	Number of charges by 'race'	118
Table 8.7	Analysis of tics	120
Table 8.8	Remand status	121
Table 8.9	Previous proceedings	122
Table 8.10	Comparison of the no. of previous charges by 'race'	123
Table 8.11	Age of high tariff sentence group	124

Table 8.12	SIR recommendations	127
Table 9.1	The number of descriptive terms used in SIRs	133
Figure 9.1	Descriptive terms and balance in SIRs	135
Figure 9.2	Ethnicity and balanced reports	136