

Contents

INTRODUCTION	1
1. THE ERODING QUALITY OF LIFE IN THE UNITED STATES	7
The Decline of Education, Health, Safety, and the Economy	12
Why Have We Not “Drawn the Line”?	23
2. THE PROXIMATE CAUSE: INCOMPETENT PARENTING	27
Defining Competent Parenting	28
Defining Incompetent Parenting	30
The Relationship between Poverty and Incompetent Parenting	34
3. THE BENEFITS TO SOCIETY OF COMPETENT PARENTING	41
The Role of Affectionate Attachment Bonds in Citizenship	42

Competent Parenting Prevents Illness	45
Competent Parenting Prevents Social Problems	48
Obstacles to Forming Affectionate Attachment Bonds	50
 4. THE EFFECTS OF INCOMPETENT PARENTING	 53
Incompetent Parenting and Habitual Criminals	55
Incompetent Parenting and Welfare Dependency	69
Incompetent Parenting and Homeless Children	73
Incompetent Parenting and Public Health	74
Incompetent Parenting and National Productivity	78
 5. THE COSTS OF INCOMPETENT PARENTING	 83
The Costs of Habitual Criminals	85
The Costs of Intergenerational Welfare Dependency	91
The Costs of Child Abuse and Neglect Services	92
Losses in National Productivity	93
The Total Cost of Incompetent Parenting	95
Prioritizing Risks to Our Society	96
 6. THE TOLERANCE OF INCOMPETENT PARENTING	 99
The Impact of Individualism on Social Values	100
The Impact of Individualism on Social Structures	106
The Disparagement of Parenting	111
Society's Fragmented Reactions to Social Problems	116
The Political Crisis-Recoil Response	118
The Elevated Threshold of Deviancy	120
 7. JUVENILE AGEISM	 123
The Dynamics of Prejudice and Discrimination	125
Elder Ageism	126
The Forms of Juvenile Ageism	127
Areas of Progress	141
An Antidote to Juvenile Ageism: Children's Civil Rights	145
Authentic Child Advocacy	146

8.	A CHILD'S RIGHT TO COMPETENT PARENTING	149
	The Civil Rights of Children	150
	The Legal Rights of Children	153
	Cultural Expectations of Parents and Children	159
9.	A PARENT'S RIGHT TO BE COMPETENT	163
	Parenthood as a Developmental Process	165
	The Developmental Readiness for Parenthood	166
	The Dilemma of Adolescent Pregnancy	174
	The Dilemma of Adolescent Parenthood	180
	Social Policy and Teenage Parents	191
	Social Policy and Parenting	196
10.	A NEW WAY OF THINKING ABOUT CHILDREN	199
	"Little Picture" Thinking	200
	"Big Picture" Thinking	203
	Social Values versus Cultural Values	206
	Supporting Competent Parenting as a National Policy	210
	The Societal Goal of Competent Citizenship	212
11.	A NATIONAL PARENTING POLICY	215
	The Concept of Parent Licensure	218
	A Multisystem Approach to Improving Parental Competence	220
	The Precedents for Licensing Parents	228
	Childless and Childrearing Marriages	236
	Procedures for Licensing Parents	238
	Alternatives to Licensing Parents	244
	The Rationale for Licensing Parents	245
12.	ARGUMENTS AGAINST LICENSING PARENTS	249
	The Imposition of Majority Standards	251
	Violating the Sacred Parent-Child Relationship	252
	Licensing Would Foster Parent Blaming	254

Restricting the Right of Adults to Freedom of Action	255
Licensing Would Accompany Financial Child Support	256
Fear of According Adult Rights to Children	257
Enforcing Conformity in Childrearing	258
The Political Rejection of the Family	259
The Maturing Influence of Childrearing	260
Objectionable Prior Restraint	261
The Fallibility of Prediction and Education	262
The Unfeasibility of Administration	263
Licensing Would Replace Helping Parents	264
Insufficient Adoption Opportunities	265
Research Is Inconclusive	267
Education, Training, and Clinical Services Are Sufficient	268
Favored Legal Treatment Is Undesirable	269
Society's Need for Incompetence	271
Drastic Changes in Public Policy Do Not Occur	272
Are These Arguments Obstacles or Hurdles?	273

CONCLUSION: WILL THE UNITED STATES VALUE PARENTING? 275

The Social Costs of Incompetent Parenting	276
Our Society Must Value Parenting	278
Social Welfare Is Not Enough	280
Parenting Can Be Self-Fulfilling	281
The United States Needs a National Parenting Policy	282
Global Leadership in Human Rights for Children	284

APPENDIX 287

NOTES 289

INDEX 337