

Contents

Acknowledgements	vii
------------------	-----

SECTION 1 : CONTEXT AND BACKGROUND

1. Introduction	3
2. Theoretical perspectives on child care, residential care and organisations	10

SECTION 2 : THE ACTION RESEARCH AND CONSULTANCY

3. The children's homes; scope and working methods of the action research and consultancy	33
4. The tasks of the residential social workers	47
5. Residential social workers' experiences of organisation and decision making	64
6. Questions of teamwork	80
7. Patterns of communication and support	101

SECTION 3 : IMPLICATIONS FOR POLICY, STRATEGY, ORGANISATION AND PRACTICE

8. The role of residential care within an integrated range of child care services	129
9. The effective organisation of residential care	141
10. Effective communication and support: a necessary but not sufficient precondition to child centred care	162
11. Conclusions	173
Appendix	189
Bibliography	195