

Contents

Preface	x
Introduction	xii
1 Setting the scene	1
The basic assumption	1
Defining the mentally disordered offender	6
A distinctive way of working	12
Summary	20
References	20
Further reading	21
2 Policy and legislative framework	23
Policy development	23
Legislation	36
Summary	45
References	45
Further reading	47
3 Inequality, discrimination and the mentally disordered offender	48
What is discrimination?	49
Different forms of discrimination	51
The power of the worker	54
The power of the client	56
How does discrimination happen?	57
Discrimination against mentally disordered offenders	59
Racial discrimination and the mentally disordered offender	64

Sexual discrimination and the mentally disordered offender	72
Summary	77
References	77
4 The assessment of risk	79
The human volcano	79
Risk to others	85
Risk to the worker	91
Client's risk to self	98
Summary	104
References	105
5 Primary and secondary prevention	107
What is primary prevention?	107
Diversion from custody	114
Psychiatric/Panel Assessment Schemes	118
Acting as an 'appropriate adult' under the Police and Criminal Evidence Act 1984	120
Care management	124
Probation order with a condition of psychiatric treatment	126
Supervision and treatment order under the Criminal Procedure (Insanity and Unfitness to Plead) Act 1991	130
Guardianship orders	131
The care programme approach	134
Supervision registers	135
Summary	137
References	137
6 Supervision of patients subject to special restrictions	140
Work within the hospital setting	140
Supervision in the community	150
Summary	168
References	169
7 Residential and daycare services	171
Tasks and functions	173
Referrals	179
The ethos	183

Discharge	187
Communication and purpose in residential and daycare settings	189
Summary	193
References	194
8 Key issues for the future	195
Emerging contradictions	195
Training	198
Management support	201
Joint planning and working	203
References	207
Appendix: The Home Office guidelines on social supervision	209
Glossary	241
Index	251