

Contents

Acknowledgments	ix
Introduction	xi
Part 1: Drug Prohibition and the Abstinence Paradigm
1. The Drug Treatment System in the United States: A Panacea for the Drug War? Geoffrey Hunt and Anna Xiao Dong Sun	3
2. The Treatment of Drug-Related Problems in Canada: Controlling, Caring, and Curing Alan C. Ogborne, Reginald G. Smart, and Brian R. Rush	20
3. Expansion and Implosion: The Story of Drug Treatment in Sweden Anders Bergmark	33
4. Finland: Drug Treatment at the Margins Aarne Kinnunen and Juhani Lehto	48
5. Comment on Part 1: Thunder and Silence in Drug Treatment: Four Nations in Moral Concert Judith C. Barker	61
Part 2: The Experimental Countries
6. The English Drug Treatment System: Experimentation or Pragmatism? Susanne MacGregor and Lynne Smith	69
7. Integrating Care, Cure, and Control: The Drug Treatment System in the Netherlands Jack T. M. Derks, Marten J. Hoekstra, and Charles D. Kaplan	81
8. Harm Reduction and Abstinence: Swiss Drug Policy at a Time of Transition Harald Klingemann	94

9. Comment on Part 2:
 Tailoring Drug Treatment to Changing Times
Gabriele Bammer 112

Part 3: Social Change and Drug Treatment in Central Europe and Russia

10. The Drug Treatment System in Russia:
 Past and Present, Problems and Prospects
Yakov Gilinskiy and Vladimir Zobnev 117
11. Therapeutic Communities as a Major Response to Drug Abuse in Poland
Grażyna Świątkiewicz, Jacek Moskalewicz, and Janusz Sierosławski 124
12. Drug Users as Scapegoats in Hungary?
Zsuzsanna Elekes, Éva Katona, and Borbála Paksi 133
13. Comment on Part 3:
 From Ideology to Social Reality: Drug Use
 in Postcommunist Society
Hans-Dieter Klingemann 139

Part 4: From Moral Crusades to Cost-Efficient Pragmatism

14. Illicit Drugs in Germany and the Emergence of the Modern Drug Treatment System
Irmgard Vogt and Martin Schmid 145
15. The Development of Drug Treatment in the Shadow of the Narcotic Law: The Case of Austria
Irmgard Eisenbach-Stangl and Wilhelm Burian 158
16. Comment on Part 4:
 German Rechthaberei and Its Contribution to a Modern Drug Abuse Treatment System
Gerhard Bühringer 168

Part 5: The Latin American Connection

17. Drug Consumption and Drug Treatment in a
 Drug-Producing Country: Colombia Between Myth and Reality—
 A View From the Inside
Augusto Pérez-Gómez 173
18. Who Is to Blame? The Discovery of Domestic Drug Problems and the Quest for Recognition of Therapeutic Communities in Peru
Antonio Lara-Ponce 182
19. Comment on Part 5:
 Drug Policies and Tradition: Implications for the Care of Addictive Disorders in Two Andean Countries
Enrique Madrigal 195

Part 6: Wine and Illicit Drugs

20. A System at Its Starting Blocks: Drug Treatment in France Philippe Mossé	201
21. The Spread of AIDS and Drug Treatment in Spain Juan-Luis Recio Adrados	210
22. Building a Drug Treatment System in Postrevolutionary Portugal José Manuel Gaspar de Almeida and Rosa Encarnação	217
23. Legal Changes, Political Pressure, and Drug Treatment in Italy: From a Hard-Line Approach to Decriminalization Luigi M. Solivetti	223
24. Comment on Part 6: Dionysus Is Back Kaj Noschis	234

Part 7: Economic Revolution and Cultural Transformation in the Far East

25. Societal Control and the Model of Legal Drug Treatment: A Japanese Success Story? Kyohei Konuma, Shinji Shimizu, and Takeshi Koyanagi	239
26. Drug Treatment and Public Security in the People's Republic of China Wang Zhengyan, Gérald Bérout, Cheng Maojin, and Chen Shirong	253
27. Comment on Part 7: From the Opium Wars to Strict Drug Policies in East Asia Michael S. Vaughn	263

Part 8: Gender, Finance, and System Integration: Findings From 20 Countries

28. Equal Access With Optimum Costs: Issues of Financing and Managing Drug Treatment Juhani Lehto	269
29. Gender and Drug Treatment Systems Irmgard Vogt	281
30. The Relationship Between Alcohol and Drug Treatment Systems Anders Bergmark	298
Appendix: Summary Table	308
Glossary	309
Index	315
About the Editors	329
About the Contributors	331