

Contents

Introduction	1
Chapter One. What Is Abuse and Who Decides?	7
Chapter Two. Developmental Considerations in Evaluation and Treatment	17
Chapter Three. A Template for Developmentally Informed Evaluations	44
Chapter Four. Neurobiology and Psychology: The Formation and Meaning of Symptoms	54
Chapter Five. Memory and Disclosure	84
Chapter Six. Looking Outward: Externalization and Dissociation	113
Chapter Seven. The Paradox of Language in Treating the Unspeakable	134
Chapter Eight. Good Guys and Bad Guys: The Temptations of Splitting	149
Chapter Nine. Collaborative Work with Parents	166
Chapter Ten. The Unconscious Transmission of Abuse	187
Chapter Eleven. The Interface between Legal and Psychodynamic Considerations	202
Conclusion	224
References	227
Index	239