

Contents

|                                                                                       |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Introduction                                                                          | 1   |
| 1 The Historical Imagination of John Dewey                                     | 19  |
| 2 Writing the Arab-Israeli Conflict                                            | 49  |
| 3 History as Case Study: Qualitative Political Science Scholarship             | 77  |
| 4 History as Data Point: The 1956 Arab-Israeli War and Quantitative IR         | 99  |
| 5 Beyond the Middle East: Recent Debates on the Historiography of Vietnam      | 119 |
| 6 Political Science's Historical Problem                                       | 143 |
| 7 Solving the Historical Problem: History, Methodology, and Political Research | 165 |
| Conclusion                                                                            | 187 |
| References                                                                            | 191 |
| Index                                                                                 | 203 |
| About the Author                                                                      | 209 |