

CONTENTS

|                                                                                                         |           |
|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----------|
| In Honour of Přemysl Janota . . . . .                                                            | 9  |
| Bibliography of Přemysl Janota . . . . .                                                         | 15 |
| Markéta Caravolas                                                                                |           |
| The Development of Phonemic Representations:Children's Representation of Nasalized Vowels . . . . . | 25        |
| Rolf Carlson and Björn Granström                                                                 |           |
| The Waxholm Spoken Dialogue System . . . . .                                                            | 39        |
| Marie Dohalská-Zichová                                                                           |           |
| Testing Intelligibility at Maximum Rate . . . . .                                                       | 53        |
| Fred Englert                                                                                     |           |
| Evaluation of Normal and Disordered Voicesby Means of Auditory and Acoustic Features . . . . .      | 61        |
| Tjeerd de Graaf                                                                                  |           |
| Dutch Immigrants in Siberia?The Language of the Mennonites . . . . .                                | 75        |
| Rüdiger Hoffmann, Uwe Kordon and Jörg Helbig                                                     |           |
| Recent Results in Developing a Multilingual SpeechSynthesis System . . . . .                        | 91        |
| Pavel Jančák                                                                                     |           |
| Intonationserscheinungen in Tschechischen Sprachatlas . . . . .                                         | 105       |
| Bryan Jenner                                                                                     |           |
| Diphthongs in Several Languages . . . . .                                                               | 117       |

Jana Králová

Reflections on the Concept of Sound Level in the New “Academic” Grammar of the Spanish Language . . . 127

Eva-Maria Krech

Phonetische Untersuchungen der Sprechrealität für die Neukodifikation der Deutschen Standardaussprache . . . . 135

Gerhart Lindner

Relationen zwischen Sprachakustik und Physiologischer Phonetik . . . . . 149

Dieter Mehnert

Visualisierung akustischer Signale für Hörund Sprachbehinderte – Möglichkeiten, Probleme, Grenzen . . . 165

Nguyễn-Phan Cảnh

A Prosodic Typology of Languages:
Evidence from Vietnamese Poetry . . . . . 179

Sieb G. Nooteboom, Antonie Cohen and J. H. Eggen

Synthesizing Personal Characteristics of Speech . . . . . 191

Zdena Palková

Concurrent Context Intentions:
A Relevant Factor in the Sound Structure of Connected Speech . . . . . 207

Louis C. W. Pols

Acoustic Realization and Perception of Reduction
Phenomena in Speech . . . . . 217

Miroslav Ptáček

Czech Speech Synthesis . . . . . 231

|                                                                                                                                                      |     |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| Ján Sabol and Július Zimmermann                                                                                                               |     |
| On the Problem of the Stress in Literary Slovak . . . . .                                                                                            | 245 |
| Olga Schulzová                                                                                                                            |     |
| A Comparison of Some Phenomenain the Vocalic Inventories of Contemporary Slovak and Czech . .                                                    | 251 |
| David Short                                                                                                                               |     |
| Developments in the Inventory of Czech Present-TenseThird-Person Plural Forms as an Example of Categorizationand Analogical Change . . . . . | 257 |
| Eberhard Stock and Uwe Hollmach                                                                                                           |     |
| Akzeptanzuntersuchungen zur deutschen Standardaussprache . . .                                                                                       | 271 |
| Bernard T. Tervoort                                                                                                                       |     |
| Are Deaf Children Bilingual? . . . . .                                                                                                               | 283 |
| Walter Tscheschner                                                                                                                        |     |
| Zur Beschreibung von Vokalsegmenten in fliessender Sprache . .                                                                                       | 297 |
| Wilhelm H. Vieregge                                                                                                                       |     |
| Der phonetische Gestaltkreis und das analytische Hören . . . . .                                                                                     | 311 |
| Jos Wilmots                                                                                                                               |     |
| Die Maas als artikulatorisch-phonetische Sprachgrenze . . . . .                                                                                      | 325 |
| List of Authors . . . . .                                                                                                                 | 337 |