

Contents

Acknowledgments ix

Preface xi

1 Introduction 3

Drug Pushing and the Simulation of Canadian Identity 3

Chasing Dragons/Chasing Canada 7

Discourse and Power/Relations 13

Neo-Parrhesia and the Discourse of Drugs in Canada 17

Methodology and Method 21

Genealogy and Illicit Drugs 28

Structure 32

2 The Theory/Practice of Security and Identity 37

Introduction: (Re)Thinking Security 37

Security and Securitization 39

Securitization and Criminalization 42

Identity and Security: Moving beyond the Via Media 43

Security and Identity as Performative and Performance 45

The Significance of Security and Identity 51

Understanding the Politics of Security and Identity 53

3 Situating Canadian Geonarcotics: Canada, the United States, and the Performatives of Canadian Identity 56

Geopolitics 60

Geonarcotics 63

Perform(at)ing Canada in Geonarcotics 68

Canada and the United States 80

Conclusions and Beginnings 93

4 Race and Illicit Drugs in Canada: From the Opium Den to New Drug Khatastrophes 95

Introduction: A New Drug Khatastrophe 95

Critical Multiculturalism and Canadian Identity 97

Early Canadian Nationalism and Race: The Canada

First Movement 100

Race and the Limits of Diversity 103

The Social Gospel and the Regulation of the Canadian

Body Politic 109

Biopolitics and Governmentality in the Early Securitization of Drugs 111

The New Right, New Racism, and Contemporary Canadian

Biopolitics 113

Returning to the New Drug Khatastrophe 116

Conclusions 123

5 A Genealogy of the Body of the Canadian Drug User, Part I: From Criminal Addiction to Medicalization 125

The Body Politics of Illicit Drug Regulation 125

From Victim to Criminal Addict 129

The Sick Addict? Treatment of Drug Addiction and the Medical Community 137

Challenging Criminal Addiction: The Return of Medicalization 141

Criminal Addiction Reconsidered? Marijuana and the Discourse of Drugs in Canada 147

The Le Dain Commission 152

Responding to Le Dain 155

6 A Genealogy of the Body of the Canadian Drug User, Part II: From a National Drug Strategy to Medical Marijuana 158

The Politics of the Possible in the 'War on Drugs' Era 158

Decriminalization and Medical Use 161

The Senate Special Committee on Illegal Drugs: Mandate and Framing 164

Representation of Drug Use/Users 167

Representations of the Medical Community 170

Recommendations 173

Parliamentary Special Committee on Non-Medical Use of Drugs	175
Representations of Drug Use/Drug Users	176
Representations of Law Enforcement	178
Representations of the Medical Community	179
Issues and Recommendations	180
Findings and New Starting Points	182
(Re)Reading Canadian Identity through the Canadian Drugs Discourse	184
Conclusions	193
7 The (Geo)Politics of Dancing: Illicit Drugs and Canadian Rave Culture	197
Genealogy of Rave	203
Ecstasy	208
Rave in Toronto	212
Banning Rave and the Allen Ho Inquiry	219
Designer Drugs and Raves	228
Smokes, Booze, and Rave	232
Conclusions	234
8 Conclusion	237
Selling Fear, Buying Security, and Constructing Canada	241
Return of the Dragon	246
A Canadian War on Drugs?	248
Beyond a War on Drugs?	250
Appendix: The Progression of Canadian Drug Law – Key Events	255
Notes	265
References	275
Academic	275
Media	287
Government and Other Primary Sources	304
Index	309