

Contents

Preface	vii
Abbreviations	viii
1 Introduction	1
2 The nature of documentary languages	3
2.1 Documentary languages and communication
2.2 Semiotic systems
2.3 Langue and parole
2.4 Linguistic structure and strata
2.5 Preliminary comparison of natural and documentary languages
2.6 Artificial languages
2.7 Linguistic functions
2.8 Functional and structural characteristics of documentary languages
3 Formal aspects	12
3.1 Definitions
3.2 Notation of classificatory languages
3.3 Form of IL descriptors
3.4 Types of nouns
3.5 Plural v singular forms
3.6 Phrases as IL descriptors
3.7 Descriptor phrases
3.8 Syntactic devices
3.9 Syntagmatic symbolisation
4 Semantic aspects I: the paradigmatic axis	29
4.1 Sense and reference in natural language
4.2 Sense and reference in documentary languages
4.3 Semantic structure
4.4 Synonyms and antonyms
4.5 Generic relations
4.6 Partitive relations
4.7 Associative relations
4.8 Homonyms
4.9 Relations of coordinate descriptors
5 Semantic aspects II: the syntagmatic axis	55
5.1 Syntax and semantics of natural language
5.2 Case categories and relations
5.3 Role indicators
5.4 Relators: Farradane's relational indexing

5.5	Relators: Syntol
5.6	Facet categories
5.7	Citation orders
5.8	PRECIS
5.9	Chain indexes and contextuality
6	Pragmatic aspects	89
6.1	Access to descriptors
6.2	Lexicon structure
6.3	Form of index entries
6.4	Environmental factors
6.5	Specificity
6.6	Compression and factoring
6.7	Hardness and softness of vocabulary
6.8	Connotations in descriptors
6.9	Phase relations and form headings
7	The indexing processes	107
7.0	Misconceptions about indexing
7.1	The stages of indexing
7.2	The generation of texts
7.3	Semantic cohesion of texts
7.4	Summarisation
7.5	Automatic indexing
7.6	Formulation of descriptor phrases
7.7	The notion of 'subject'
8	The processes of searching	117
8.1	The stages of searching
8.2	Interpretation of index entries
8.3	Formulation of search requests
8.4	Translation into descriptors
8.5	Translation of syntagmatic relations
8.6	Matching search formulae and index entries
8.7	Levels of relevance
8.8	Evaluation of performance
9	Language universals	127
9.0	The search for universals
9.1	Formal and substantive universals
9.2	Formal universals of documentary languages
9.3	Universals and the theoretical framework
9.4	Semantic universals of documentary languages, and logic
9.5	Feasibility of a universal documentary language
9.6	Intermediary languages
9.7	Concluding remarks on universals
	References	137
	Other relevant publications	143
	Index	145