

Contents

Abbreviations	xiii
Preface	xix
 Part I: Introduction	 1
 1. Principles and Methods of Investigating the History of Ancient Israel	 3
1.1 Aims	3
1.2 Concepts and Complications: The Question of Sources and Methods	4
1.2.1 The Place of the Social Sciences	4
1.2.2 The Longue Durée	5
1.2.3 Using Archaeology as a Source	6
1.2.3.1 General Comments	6
1.2.3.2 Terminology of Archaeological Periods	10
1.2.3.3 Use of Survey Data	11
1.2.3.4 The Debate over the 'Low Chronology'	12
1.2.3.5 The Stratigraphy of Samaria	16
1.2.3.6 Reinterpretation of the Jochan Seal	16
1.2.3.7 Problems with Forgeries	16
1.2.4 Ethnicity	18
1.2.5 Ideology and Neo-Fundamentalism	21
1.2.6 'Maximalists', 'Minimalists' and the ad hominem Argument	23
1.3 The Contemporary Practice of Writing Israel's History	25
1.3.1 Developments in General Historiography	25

1.3.2	Forty Years of Debate Among Biblical Scholars	30
1.3.3	Principles of Historical Method Used in this Book	35
Part II: Historical Investigations		37
2.	Second Millennium: Middle and Late Bronze Ages (2000–1300 BCE)	39
2.1	Sources	39
2.1.1	Archaeology	39
2.1.2	Egyptian Texts	42
2.1.2.1	Execration Texts	42
2.1.2.2	Amarna Letters	42
2.1.2.3	The Story of Sinuhe	43
2.1.3	Ugaritic Texts	43
2.1.4	Mesopotamian Texts	44
2.1.5	Biblical Text	44
2.2	Analysis	45
2.2.1	Peoples/Ethnic and Social Groups	45
2.2.1.1	Hyksos	45
2.2.1.2	Amorites (Amurru)	46
2.2.1.3	‘Apiru/Haberu	48
2.2.1.4	Shasu (Shosu, Š3św, Sutu)	49
2.2.1.5	Canaanites	50
2.2.2	Question of the Patriarchs	52
2.3	Synthesis	55
2.3.1	First Part of the Second Millennium (ca. 2000–1600/1500 BCE)	56
2.3.1.1	Egypt	56
2.3.1.2	Old Assyrian Period (ca. 2000–1750)	57
2.3.1.3	Old Babylonian Period (ca. 2000–1600)	57
2.3.1.4	Hittites	58
2.3.1.5	Northern Syria	58
2.3.2	Second Part of the Second Millennium (ca. 1600/1500–1200 BCE)	59
2.3.2.1	Egypt	59
2.3.2.2	Mesopotamia	60
2.3.2.3	Hittite Empire (ca. 1400–1200)	61
2.3.2.4	Mitanni Kingdom (ca. 1600–1350)	61
2.3.2.5	Ugarit	64
2.3.3	Palestine	64

3. Late Bronze II to Iron IIA (ca. 1300–900 BCE): From Settlement to Statehood	65
3.1 Sources	65
3.1.1 Archaeology	65
3.1.1.1 Analysis	74
3.1.2 Merneptah Stela	77
3.1.3 Medinet Habu and Related Inscriptions	80
3.1.4 Report of Wenamun	80
3.1.5 Shoshenq I's Palestinian Inscription	81
3.1.6 Biblical Text	83
3.1.6.1 Pentateuch	83
3.1.6.2 Deuteronomistic History (DtrH)	83
3.2 Analysis	84
3.2.1 The Question of the Exodus	84
3.2.2 The Sea Peoples and the Philistines	88
3.2.3 Transjordan	93
3.2.4 From Settlement to Statehood	98
3.2.4.1 Joshua and Judges	98
3.2.4.2 The Settlement: Recent Models in Biblical Studies	100
3.2.4.3 'Tribes' and 'Nomads'	105
3.2.4.4 Anthropological Models of Statehood	107
3.2.4.5 The Saul, David and Solomon Traditions	111
3.2.5 Writing, Literacy and Bureaucracy	115
3.3 Synthesis	118
4. Iron IIB (900–720 BCE): Rise and Fall of the Northern Kingdom	123
4.1 Sources	123
4.1.1 Archaeology	123
4.1.2 Hebrew Inscriptions	128
4.1.3 Aramaic Inscriptions	129
4.1.3.1 Tel Dan	129
4.1.3.2 Melqart Inscription	130
4.1.3.3 Zakkur Inscription	130
4.1.4 Mesha Stela	131
4.1.5 Assyrian Sources	131
4.1.6 Phoenician History of Menander of Ephesus	136
4.1.7 Biblical Text	136

	4.1.7.1	1 Kings 16.15–2 Kings 17.41 (2 Chronicles 18–28): Outline of the Contents	137
	4.1.7.2	Analysis	140
4.2	Analysis		142
	4.2.1	Ahab	142
	4.2.2	Israel and Moab	144
	4.2.3	The Aramaeans	146
	4.2.4	Fall of Samaria	149
	4.2.5	Development of Religion	150
	4.2.5.1	The God Yhwh	150
	4.2.5.2	Other Deities and Worship	153
	4.2.5.3	Temple Religion versus ‘Popular’/ ‘Folk’/‘Family’ Religion	159
	4.2.5.4	Development of Monotheism	161
4.3	Synthesis		163
	4.3.1	Biblical Data Confirmed	164
	4.3.2	Biblical Data not Confirmed, though They may be Correct	165
	4.3.3	Biblical Picture Incorrect	165
	4.3.4	Biblical Picture Omits/has Gaps	165
5.	Iron IIC (720–539 BCE): Peak and Decline of Judah		167
5.1	Sources		167
	5.1.1	Archaeology	167
	5.1.1.1	Conclusions with Regard to Archaeology	176
	5.1.2	Palestinian Inscriptions	178
	5.1.2.1	The Adon Papyrus	178
	5.1.2.2	Meşad Hashavyahu	179
	5.1.2.3	Arad Ostraca	179
	5.1.2.4	Lachish Letters	180
	5.1.2.5	The Ashyahu Ostrakon	180
	5.1.2.6	Seals and Bullae	180
	5.1.3	Assyrian Sources	185
	5.1.3.1	Sargon II (721–705 BCE)	185
	5.1.3.2	Sennacherib (705–681 BCE)	185
	5.1.3.3	Esarhaddon (681–669 BCE)	186
	5.1.3.4	Ashurbanipal (669–627 BCE)	186
	5.1.4	Babylonian Sources	187
	5.1.4.1	Nabopolassar (626–605 BCE)	188

5.1.4.2	Nebuchadnezzar II (605–562 BCE)	188
5.1.4.3	Jehoiachin Documents	189
5.1.4.4	Texts from āl-Yāhūdu and Našar	190
5.1.5	Egyptian Source: Psammetichus Inscription	190
5.1.6	The Biblical Story: 2 Kings 21–25 and Parallels	191
5.1.6.1	2 Kings//2 Chronicles	191
5.1.6.2	Jeremiah	193
5.1.6.3	Ezekiel	194
5.1.6.4	Ezra	194
5.1.6.5	Daniel	194
5.6.1.6	Analysis of the Text	194
5.2	Analysis	195
5.2.1	Hezekiah	195
5.2.2	Manasseh	201
5.2.3	Amon	204
5.2.4	Josiah	204
5.2.5	Jehoahaz	207
5.2.6	Jehoiakim	208
5.2.7	Jehoiachin	208
5.2.8	Zedekiah	208
5.2.9	The Case of Jeremiah	209
5.2.10	The Case of Nebuchadnezzar	210
5.2.11	The ‘Exile’	211
5.3	Synthesis	212
5.3.1	Biblical Data Confirmed	212
5.3.2	Biblical Data not Confirmed, though They may be Correct	213
5.3.3	Biblical Picture is Most Likely Incorrect	214
5.3.4	Biblical Picture Omits/has Gaps	215
	Part III: Conclusions	217
6.	‘The End of the Matter’: What Can We Say about Israelite and Judahite History?	219
	Bibliography	227
	Index of References	283
	Index of Subjects	289
	Index of Modern Authors	301