

Contents

Acknowledgements	page x
Introduction	1
JOHN CHARTRES and DAVID HEY
1 Joan Thirsk: a personal appreciation	17
ALAN EVERITT
2 The Verneys as enclosing landlords, 1600–1800	27
JOHN BROAD
3 Estate management in eighteenth-century England: the Lowther–Spedding relationship in Cumberland	55
JOHN BECKETT
4 ‘Vain projects’: the Crown and its copyholders in the reign of James I	73
RICHARD HOYLE
5 Rural society and agricultural change: Ombersley 1580–1700	105
PETER LARGE
6 The limitations of the probate inventory	139
MARGARET SPUFFORD
7 Freebench and free enterprise: widows and their property in two Berkshire villages	175
BARBARA TODD
8 Wives and wills 1558–1700	201
MARY PRIOR
9 The horse trade of Shropshire in the early modern period	227
PETER EDWARDS

10	'An essay on manures': changing attitudes to fertilization in England, 1500–1800	251
	DONALD WOODWARD
11	Root crops and the feeding of London's poor in the late sixteenth and early seventeenth centuries	279
	MALCOLM THICK
12	'Thirty years on': progress towards integration amongst the immigrant population of Elizabethan London	297
	ANDREW PETTEGREE
13	No English Calvados? English distillers and the cider industry in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries	313
	JOHN CHARTRES
14	The origins and early growth of the Hallamshire cutlery and allied trades	343
	DAVID HEY
15	Joan Thirsk: a bibliography	369
	MARGERY TRANTER
	Index	383