

Contents

List of Illustrations	ix
Acknowledgments	xi
1. Introduction	1
Recent Interest in the 1893 Exposition and Parliament	5
Positioning of Asian Delegates at the Parliament	8
2. Buddhism Repackaged for Meiji Nationalism	21
Modern Buddhism and Invented Tradition	21
Meiji Buddhist Apologetics Prior to the 1893 Parliament	23
3. Japan's Status at the 1893 World's Columbian Exposition	33
Exhibiting Japanese Civilization	35
Representing Culture: Revealing Character	46
4. Why Did the Buddhists Come to the West?	61
Rejection of Parliament's Invitation and Assumptions	61
Opportunity Seized	65
Conflict Among Japanese Delegates	67
Unified Message	71
5. Religion, Nationalism, and Diplomacy	77
Religion and Politics	84
6. Illuminating the Greater Vehicle	93
Reversing Anti-Mahāyāna Bias in the West	96
Promoting Mahāyāna in America	101
7. Era of Science and Religious Reform	117
Science and Buddhist-Christian Polemics	117
Science as Apologetic Ally	124
Buddhist Apologetics & "Religion of Science" after 1893	126
Importing, Exporting, and Mediating Buddhism	130
8. Conclusion	137
Bibliography	141
Index	151