

CONTENTS

PREFACE	ix
ABBREVIATIONS	xii

I

Identity or History? (I)

Reflections on the historiography of unrecognized persons	1
--	---

2

"A Clever Jewish Student"

Marcus Herz, Immanuel Kant, and the vocation of philosophy	19
---	----

The Enlightenment in practice:

Herz and the unreliability of culture	19
---------------------------------------	----

"A poxed mistress":

Herz and Kant—their correspondence and mutual misapprehension	32
---	----

"A truly consistent philosopher":

Herz and the dilemma of speculative reason	47
--	----

3

"A Born Medical Practitioner"

Marcus Herz and the vocation of medicine	72
---	----

The years of promise:

Social opportunities in Enlightenment Berlin	72
--	----

“A philosophical doctor”:
The practical beliefs of Enlightened reason	93
“ Humanus sum . . .”
Herz and smallpox vaccination—the dilemma of empirical science and rational ethics	117

4

Overtaken by the Future

Dilemmas of the rational intellect at the end of the Enlightenment	145
“Precious, blithe Hebe”:
Henriette Herz, or the Enlightenment in retrospect	145
“Bamboo with sugar and spice”:
Herz’s philosophy of taste and the aesthetics of salon culture in the 1790s	163
“Holding the awkward balance of reason”:
Between prejudice, orthodoxy, and assimilation— the dilemma of the Jewish Enlightenment	195

5

Identity or History? (2)

Afterthoughts on identity and displacement in modern German-Jewish culture	216
---	-----

NOTES	220
-------	-----

BIBLIOGRAPHY	300
--------------	-----

INDEX	331
-------	-----