

Contents

Preface	9
Introduction	11
1. The Need of a Fresh Approach	15
Introduction: The Promise of Trinitarian Theology	15
Through the Prism of Contemporary Theology	18
Through the Prism of the Church and Human Experience	33
Conclusion	50
2. Retrieving Human Experience for a Trinitarian Hermeneutics	57
Introduction: An Intersstitial Methodology	57
Experience, Language and Truth	62
Experience, Incarnation and Revelation	103
Trinitarian Hermeneutics in the Interstice	136
3. What It Is To Be Human	141
Introduction: Narrative and Conceptual Experience	141
Insights from Contemporary Literature	145
The Turn to Relationality	157
Insights from Science and Philosophy	170
What It Is To Be Human	210
4. Human Experience, the Bible and the Trinity	219
Introduction: From Titles to Encounters	219
Jacob Encounters Esau	226
The Story of the Prodigal Son	242
Conclusion	258

5. The Trinity and Human Life	261
Introduction: Discourse as Creative Tension	261
The One and the Three: A Misleading Dichotomy	263
Trinitarian Gestaltkreis Hermeneutics	276
Imago Dei or How Things Hang Together	281
The Trinity and Human Life	285
Conclusion: Retrospect and Prospect	295
Bibliographies	301
Index of Names	317
Index of Subjects	321