

Contents

Foreword	vii
Part One Locating Realism	1
1 Science as a Communal Practice	8
2 Realism and Antirealism	34
3 Realism Revised	65
Part Two Referring, Searching and Finding	97
4 Referring as a Material Practice	100
5 Furnishing the World: Referents and Natural-Kinds	108
6 Referential Grids	124
Part Three The Metaphysics of Experience	145
7 A Psychological Defence of Common Sense	147
8 The Construction of Facts	168
9 Kinds and Causes: Constraints on a Science of Experience	177
Part Four Science for the Realm of Possible Experience	191
10 Policy Realism	194
11 Theory-Families and the Concept of Plausibility	201
12 The Reasonableness of Policy Realism	222
Part Five Science for the Realm beyond Experience	237
13 Covariance and Conservation	243
14 Deeper into Realm 3: Quantum Field Theory	261
15 Dispositions and their Groundings	281

Part Six	The Place of Logic in the Philosophy of Science	317
16	Quantification and Generality: Alternatives to the First-Order Predicate Calculus	320
17	Modality in Scientific Discourses	332
18	Probability Concepts in Science	344
	Notes	351
	References	356
	Name Index	364
	Subject Index	367