

Contents

Figures	vi
Photographs	vii
Tables	vii
Preface Akira Furukawa	viii
Contributors	xv
1 Overcoming the Predicament of Social Research Motoji Matsuda	1
2 Explanation and Narrative: What Should Social Research Aim for? Kazuo Seiyama	19
3 Rethinking Case Studies: Research as a Power to Construct Lives Taisuke Miyauchi	39
4 Reflections on the Methodology of Seeing in Kōgengaku and the Study of Folklore Makito Kawada	53
5 Drawing Sketches in the Field: Sketch Literacy for Social Research Nobutaka Kamei	72
6 Opium and the Emperor: Anthropology, Colonialism and War during Imperial Japan Kyung-soo Chun	100
7 Discovering the 'Sense of Co-Presence' in Urban Sociological Research Michihiro Okuda	126
8 Through the Eyes of a Good Deed Investigator Yukihiko Shigenobu	158
9 How Does the Village Express Local Knowledge Akira Furukawa	183
10 Discovering Happiness through Environmental Research Conducted by Local Residents Yukiko Kada	203
11 A Film's 'Power of Enlightenment' or Effect: An Exploration of the Film Freaks Hiroaki Yoshii	233
12 Lessons on Human Rights Derived from an Epistolary Style: the Sociology of Structural Discrimination Kōkichirō Miura	253
13 In Search of Evidence of a Child's Best Interests: Bridging Research and Practice in Social Work Matsujiro Shibano	272
Notes	306
Bibliography	316
Index	337

Figures

2.1 Narrative and explanation	32
5.1 Cross-section sample of a sushi roll	75
5.2 Subject and number of sketches	80
5.3 Fieldwork sketches in the tropical forest region of the Republic of Cameroon	81
5.4 Sketches help to accurately understand the subject	82
5.5 Sketching allows accurate recording of a subject	83
5.6 Sketching forms rapport	85
5.7 Sketching makes the collection of samples smooth and easy	86
5.8 Sketches form a database	88
5.9 Sketches make verbal and written expression clearer	89
5.10 A simplified sketch. A sketch of a church in the Republic of Cameroon, March 2005.	91
5.11 Literacy education using sketching	93
5.12 Animation-based sociology 'Boryoku no fukei (Landscape of Violence)'	95
7.1 Typology of comparative analytic community study approaches	135
10.1 Environmental awareness of residents and scientists	210
10.2 Relationship between the firefly and me (Dynamic model)	215
10.3 Relationship between the firefly and me (Static model)	216
13.1 Process of permanency planning based on 1980 Act	276
13.2 The modified design & development (M-D&D) process	282
13.3 The Japanese-style management process in dealing with child abuse cases	288
13.4 The practical navigational database system's decision-making phase and risk assessment phase based on the phase-mode practice model	289
13.5 Fresno County due process 1: Referrals and investigation	290
13.6 Fresno County due process 2: Family maintenance	291
13.7 Fresno County due process 3: Family maintenance, protection hearing and family reunification	290
13.8 Fresno County due process 4: Permanency planning	291

13.9	Essential flow of the navigational database system based on the flow-mode practice model	293
13.10	Flow-mode navigation database system screening model	296
13.11	The CERAP module	298
13.12	Risk assessment module	300
13.13	On-the-spot-investigation module	301

Photographs

10.1.1	Morning on the Lake Biwa foreshore on 5 August 1956.	219
10.1.2	Okishima (same place and angle as photograph 10.1.1). Mrs Yoshiko Chatani and her daughter Aiko.	223
10.2.1	A mother doing the laundry and a baby in a pram, around 1955.	224
10.2.2	Mrs Kimi Nakano, who was doing the laundry in photograph 10.2.1.	225
10.3.1	Piers on Imazu beach.	226
10.3.2	The same place as in photograph 10.3.1, no pier remains.	226
10.4.1	A family photograph on the pier with some guests from Tokyo.	227
10.4.2	The same place as in photograph 10.4.1.	227

Tables

4.1	Visual methods in Kōgengaku	60
4.2	Comparative table of the three-part categorization of folklore materials of Kunio Yanagita	69