

Contents

Introducing images of imperial legacy in Southeast Europe	1
Tea Sindbaek and Maximilian Hartmuth
Empires are us: identifying with differences	7
Milica Bakić-Hayden (Pittsburgh)
The Ottoman Empire and South Eastern Europe from a Turkish perspective	21
Maurus Reinkowski (Basel)
Diverging images of the Ottoman legacy in Albania	37
Cecilie Endresen (Oslo)
The changing image of Austria-Hungary in Croatian political discourse: a perspective on the 20 th Century, with an emphasis on the interwar period and the years before WWI	53
Petar Bagarić (Zagreb)
Arrested development: mythical characteristics in the “five hundred years of Turkish yoke”	69
Srđan Milošević (Belgrade)
Between Vienna and Istanbul: imperial legacies, visual identities, and “popular” and “high” layers of architectural discourse in/on Sarajevo, c. 1900 and 2000	79
Maximilian Hartmuth (Istanbul)
The Kosovo problem as Ottoman legacy in Serb intellectual discourse of the late 1980s	105
Tea Sindbaek (Aarhus)
Images of imperial legacy: the impact of nationalizing discourse on the image of the last years of Ottoman rule in Macedonia	115
Vemund Aarbakke (Thessaloniki)	