

CONTENTS

Acknowledgments ix

SAMUEL COHEN AND LEE KONSTANTINOU

Introduction:

Zoologists, Elephants, and Editors

xi

Part 1. History

PAUL GILES

All Swallowed Up:

David Foster Wallace and American Literature

3

DON DELILLO

Informal Remarks from the

David Foster Wallace Memorial Service

in New York on October 23, 2008

23

JOSH ROILAND

Getting Away from It All:

The Literary Journalism of David Foster Wallace and Nietzsche's Concept of Oblivion

25

GEORGE SAUNDERS

Informal Remarks from the

David Foster Wallace Memorial Service

in New York on October 23, 2008

53

Part 2. Aesthetics

SAMUEL COHEN

To Wish to Try to Sing to the Next Generation:

Infinite Jest's History

59

RICK MOODY

Tribute Written for Wallace Family

Memorial Book, 2008

80

LEE KONSTANTINOU

No Bull:

David Foster Wallace and Postironic Belief

83

DAVID LIPSKY

An Interview with David Foster Wallace

113

HEATHER HOUSER

Infinite Jest's Environmental Case for Disgust

118

DAVE EGGERS

Foreword to Tenth Anniversary Edition of Infinite Jest

143

Part 3. Community

ED FINN

Becoming Yourself:
The Afterlife of Reception

151

JONATHAN FRANZEN

Informal Remarks from the
David Foster Wallace Memorial Service
in New York on October 23, 2008

177

KATHLEEN FITZPATRICK

Infinite Summer:
Reading, Empathy, and the Social Network

182

MICHAEL PIETSCH AND RICK MOODY

On Editing David Foster Wallace:
An Interview

208

IRA B. NADEL

Consider the Footnote

218

MOLLY SCHWARTZBURG

Conclusion:
Observations on the Archive at the
Harry Ransom Center

241

Notes on Contributors 261

Permissions 265

Index 267