

Table of Contents

Acronyms and abbreviations.....	11
Assessment and recommendations.....	13
Chapter 1. A Dynamic but Segmented Labour Market	33
1. The global crisis ended a decade of strong growth, but recovery is underway.....	34
2. Real wages remain the main adjustment variable in the labour market	36
3. The labour market is highly dynamic but strongly segmented.....	47
4. Regional disparities are large but declining.....	56
5. Educational attainment of the workforce is high, but average quality is rather low	60
Notes	64
References	66
Chapter 2. Reinforcing Labour Market Institutions	69
1. Introduction	70
2. Employment protection is not a strong constraint on employers.....	70
3. Enforcement of labour regulation is weak.....	74
4. Collective bargaining has a limited impact on wages and working conditions	77
5. Expenditure on labour market policy is very low.....	86
6. A policy for professional training is lacking	95
7. Conclusions	97
Notes	100
References	104
Annex 2.A1. Employment Protection in the Russian Federation.....	107
Chapter 3. Supporting the Working-age Population More Effectively and More Fairly	109
1. Introduction	110
2. Income disparities and poverty.....	111

3. Social policy in the Russian Federation	122
4. Family policy	135
5. Conclusions	140
Notes	144
References	146
Annex 3.A1. Selected Background Statistics	153
Annex 3.A2. Moving Into and Out of Poverty	155
Chapter 4. Ensuring Adequate and Financially Sustainable Pensions in the Russian Federation	159
1. Introduction	160
2. Poverty among pensioners	161
3. Demographic change will have a profound effect on Russian society	165
4. Pension policy developments over the past 20 years	168
5. The 2010 pension system: reform to strengthen adequacy of pension payments	173
6. Financial sustainability	183
7. Conclusions	188
Notes	192
References	194

Tables

Table 1.1. Labour force status of the Russian population, 1992-2009	37
Table 1.2. Underemployment in large and medium-sized enterprises	43
Table 1.3. Employment by main economic sector in the Russian Federation	49
Table 1.4. Voluntary and forced separations, 1992-2009	53
Table 1.5. Informal employment in the Russian Federation, 2007	54
Table 2.A1.1. The Russian Federation's employment protection scores, 2009	107
Table 3.1. Children and young people are most at risk of poverty in the Russian Federation	119
Table 3.2. Living in larger households, in urban areas, being in work, having a pensioner in the household and engaging in subsistence farming significantly reduce the risk of being poor	120
Table 3.3. Non-pension-related social cash transfers (not including health and housing services)	126
Table 3.4 Monetisation of federal privileges and the associated payment rates to disabled citizens	133