

CONTENTS

Preface	VII
-------------------	-----

A. GENERAL LINGUISTIC THEORY

1 W. S. Allen: On the Linguistic Study of Languages	1
2 T. B. W. Reid: Historical Philology and Linguistic Science	1
3 R. H. Robins: General Linguistics in Great Britain. 1930-1960	3
4 J. R. Firth: A Synopsis of Linguistic Theory. 1930-1955	24
5 F. R. Palmer: Linguistic Hierarchy	27
6 R. M. W. Dixon: Linguistics as a Science	43

B. I. PHONOLOGY

7 D. Jones: On Phonemes	53
8 D. Jones: Concrete and Abstract Sounds	54
9 D. Jones: The Phoneme	57
10 D. Abercrombie: Parameters and Phonemes	57
11 R. E. Keller: Reflections on the Study of German Phonology	61
12 D. Crystal: Prosodic and Paralinguistic Correlates of Social Categories	66

B. II. MORPHOLOGY AND SYNTAX

13 W. Haas: Zero in Linguistic Description	75
14 C. E. Bazell: Meaning and the Morpheme	85
15 M. A. K. Halliday: Grammar, Society and the Noun	96

B. III. SEMANTICS

16 C. K. Ogden and J. A. Richards: a) Thoughts, words and things	117
b) The meaning of meaning	118
17 S. Ullmann: Semantics at the Cross-Roads	119
18 J. Lyons: Semantic Structure	128

C APPLIED LINGUISTICS

19	P. D. Strevens: Modern Languages in the University . . .	132
20	P. D. Strevens: How Can Linguistics Help the Teacher of English?	135
21	R. Quirk: English Today: A World View	136
	Textual Sources	145
	Bibliography	147