

Michael Stolleis / Masaharu Yanagihara (ed.)

East Asian and European Perspectives on International Law

NOMOS Verlagsgesellschaft
Baden-Baden

Contents

Preface . . . . .	VII
Kinji Akashi , Japanese 'Acceptance' of the European Law of Nations. A Brief History of International Law in Japan c. 1853–1900 . . . .	1
Hui-gi Sim , Brutal Internal Struggle against External Imperialism: The Initial Phases in the Reception of Western Law into Korean Society in the 1890s . . . . .	23
Ingo J. Hueck , Pragmatism, Positivism and Hegelianism in the Nine- teenth Century. August Wilhelm Heffter's Notion of Public Inter- national Law . . . . .	41
Mathias Schmoeckel , The Story of a Success. Lassa Oppenheim and his 'International Law' . . . . .	57
Benedict Kingsbury , Legal Positivism as Normative Politics: Interna- tional Society, Balance of Power and Lassa Oppenheim's Posi- tive International Law . . . . .	139
Masaharu Yanagihara , The Idea of Non-discriminating War and Japan	179
Michael Stolleis , International Law under German National Socialism. Some Contributions to the History of Jurisprudence 1933–1945. .	203
Anthony Carty , State and Nation in the International Law Tradition: A History of French-German Antagonisms and Possible Responses in the Spanish Late Medieval Tradition. . . . .	215
Albrecht Cordes , The Hanseatic League and its Legal Nature: Political, Legal and Historical Discourse . . . . .	243