

CONTENTS

1	Introduction: Stepping into the Play Frame—Cinema as Mammalian Communication	1
	Art, Old and New	1
	Film in a New Geological Era	5
	Film as a Hybrid of Mechanism and Communication	7
	The Janus Face of Cinema: Humanity and the Cyborg	8
	References	12
2	Janus's Celluloid and Digital Faces: The Existential Cyborg—Autopoiēsis in Christopher Nolan's Memento	15
	Autopoietic Cinema	15
	The Epistemology and Ontology of Analog and Digital Media	16
	The Existential Cyborg	18
	From the Anthropocentric Ego to the Ecological Self	22
	Memento	24
	Learning to Be Leonard: The Sisyphean Schizophrenic	29
	From Learning to Evolution	34
	Through the Looking Glass	35
	Expanded Cinema: A Transdisciplinary Critical Theory of "Film"	40
	References	50

3	Documentary Intertext: Robert Gardner's Dead Birds 1964	57
	Ritual Warfare	57
	The Aporias of Documentary Realism	59
	From Enlightened Universality to Postcolonial Pluralism	61
	Cybernetics of Warfare: From Ancient Greece to Modern Africa to Contemporary Global Conflicts	64
	Form, Difference, and Universality: Filmic Codes for the Anthropocene	69
	References	75
4	Cinema's Historical Incarnations: Traveling the Möbius Strip of Biotime in Cloud Atlas	79
	From Novel to Film	79
	The Historical Consciousness of the Anthropocene	82
	Circuitous Historicity: The Syntax of the Möbius Strip	91
	Multicultural Temporality	94
	Homo Sapiens as a Geological Force	98
	The Syntax of Novel and Film	102
	The Angel of History	111
	Cybernetic Circles	116
	References	133
5	Documentary Intertext: John Marshall, The Hunters 1957	141
	Epistemic and Political Dimensions of Documentary Film: Storytelling in the Anthropocene	141
	Paleolithic Hunters and Gatherers Before the Camera	142
	Film and Reality: Cinéma Vérité and the Epistemology of Reconstruction	145
	Death by Myth	149
	Of Fire, Cinema, and Paleolithic Cultures	154
	The Fire of Information: Cybernetics in a Primeval Light	167
	"The Feelies": From the Hegemony of Vision to Synesthetic Immersion	170
	References	173

6	Janus East and West: Multicultural Polyvocality—Trinh Minh-ha's The Fourth Dimension and The Digital Film Event	181
	Digital Buddhism	181
	The li of Information: Confucian and Taoist Aesthetics in Digital Media	183
	Zentime: Dōgen's Virtual Garden	186
	Women's Time, Noh Drama, and High-Speed Rail	189
	Ritual Obligation, Learning III, and Transpersonal Consciousness	193
	Emptiness, Autopoiesis, and the Difference that Makes a Difference	196
	From Egological to Ecological Cinema: Existentialism, Buddhism, and Cybernetics	198
	References	206
7	Documentary Intertext: Trance and Dance in Bali 1951	211
	The Drama of Schizophrenia: Visual Ethnography and "Abnormal" Psychology	211
	Cybernetics and Schismogenesis: Rituals of Self-Correction	217
	Self-Reflexive Ethnographic Psychology: Critique of the Anthropological Self	220
	Trance and Dance: Film Sequence	223
	Artistry, Agency, and Ecology: Expansions of Trance and Dance	226
	Cybernetics, Living Networks, and the Ecologies of Mind	236
	Alice's Croquet Match Reprise	238
	Analogic and Digital Coding: Art, Play, and Schizophrenia	240
	Transcontextuality and Ecological Theory	242
	References	244
8	Janus's Interspecies Faces: Biomorphic Transformations in the Ecology of Mind in James Cameron's Avatar	249
	Romantic Ecology and Digital Media	249
	Postcolonial Criticism of Avatar	250
	Anthropocene or Capitalocene? From Film Criticism to Postcolonial Philosophy	258
	Toward a Postcolonial Cybernetics	262
	Cybernetics and Dialectics	264
	Technical Mastery and Cybernetic Epistemology	274
	Digital Techniques and Analog Bodies in the Ecology of Mind	277
	References	280

9	Documentary Intertext: André Singer's and J. Stephen Lansing's The Goddess and the Computer 1988	287
	Janus in the Anthropocene: The Goddess and the Computer	287
	A Postcolonial Critique and Ethnographic Reply	289
	Evolutionary Ideas in Conflict: Tragedy of the Commons Versus Inheritance of Altruism	294
	Mind Expansions: Toward an Ecological Cybernetic Intelligence	299
	References	305
10	Conclusion: Toward a Transdisciplinary Critical Theory of Film	309
	Film in the Inferno	309
	Transdisciplinarity and Transcontextuality in the Arts	312
	Classical Antecedents: Plato and Aristotle on the Many and the One	315
	Buddhist Reflections: Dependent Origination and Mental Ecology	324
	Alice in the Anthropocene	325
	References	327
	Index	331