

Contents

|          |                                                                                                 |          |
|----------|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------|
| 1 | Introduction .....                                                                       | 1 |
| 2 | The Austrian Path Toward Gestalt Psychology: From Brentano to Benussi, via Meinong ..... | 3 |
| 2.1      | Scientific Psychology in Germany and Austria at the Turn of the Century .....                   | 3        |
| 2.2      | “Austrian Psychology” .....                                                                     | 7        |
| 2.3      | The Empirical and Descriptive Psychology of Franz Brentano.....                                 | 14       |
| 2.3.1    | A New Empirical Psychology on an Aristotelian Basis .....                                       | 14       |
| 2.3.2    | The Classification of Mental Phenomena .....                                                    | 21       |
| 2.3.3    | Descriptive Psychology and Ontology of the Mind.....                                            | 25       |
| 2.4      | Psychology in Meinong’s Philosophical Thinking .....                                            | 27       |
| 2.4.1    | Psychology and Philosophy .....                                                                 | 27       |
| 2.4.2    | Meinong’s Pathway to Psychology .....                                                           | 29       |
| 2.4.3    | Meinong Between Empiricism and Descriptive Psychology .....                                     | 33       |
| 2.4.4    | Sensation, Presentation, Perception, and Structure .....                                        | 44       |
| 2.4.5    | Form and Organisation: Meinong, Stumpf, and Husserl .....                                       | 55       |
| 2.4.6    | Christian von Ehrenfels and the “Gestalt Qualities” .....                                       | 63       |
| 2.4.7    | From Gestalt Qualities to Complexions and Founded Contents .....                                | 70       |
| 2.4.8    | Psychic Analysis .....                                                                          | 73       |
| 2.4.9    | The Objects and Their Ordered Levels .....                                                      | 76       |
| 2.4.10   | The Production Theory: Rudolf Ameseder and Stephan Witasek .....                                | 90       |
| 2.4.11   | The Assumption (Annahme) and the Classification of Mental Phenomena .....                       | 97       |

|          |                                                                                                           |            |
|----------|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|------------|
| 3 | Vittorio Benussi: A Difficult Life, a Tragic Fate.....                                             | 101 |
| 3.1      | His Personality .....                                                                                     | 101        |
| 3.2      | From Trieste to Graz .....                                                                                | 105        |
| 3.3      | Benussi and the Graz School .....                                                                         | 112        |
| 3.4      | Scientific Maturity .....                                                                                 | 120        |
| 3.5      | The Difficult Years .....                                                                                 | 126        |
| 3.6      | From Graz to Padua .....                                                                                  | 130        |
| 4 | The Graz Period .....                                                                              | 145 |
| 4.1      | Theoria vs Empiria .....                                                                                  | 145        |
| 4.2      | The Heritage of Brentano and Meinong .....                                                                | 147        |
| 4.3      | The Inadequate Perception of Forms .....                                                                  | 148        |
| 4.3.1    | The Optical-Geometrical Illusions .....                                                                   | 148        |
| 4.3.2    | The Illusions: Judgment Illusions vs Presentational Inadequacy .....                                      | 152        |
| 4.3.3    | Perception and Judgment: Benussi and the Theories of Brentano's School.....                               | 154        |
| 4.3.4    | Presentational Inadequacy and Its Classification.....                                                     | 157        |
| 4.3.5    | Act, Content and Object of Presentation .....                                                             | 162        |
| 4.3.6    | Gestalt Ambiguity .....                                                                                   | 164        |
| 4.3.7    | Phenomenal Salience (Auffälligkeit).....                                                                  | 170        |
| 4.3.8    | The Laws of the Inadequate Perception of Gestalten and Sensory and Non-Sensory Perceptual Inadequacy..... | 173        |
| 4.4      | Time .....                                                                                                | 176        |
| 4.4.1    | Subjective and Objective Time .....                                                                       | 176        |
| 4.4.2    | The Mental Present .....                                                                                  | 179        |
| 4.4.3    | Grouping and Phrasing .....                                                                               | 182        |
| 4.4.4    | Temporal Comparisons .....                                                                                | 184        |
| 4.4.5    | The Tau Effect.....                                                                                       | 188        |
| 4.4.6    | Präsenzzeit and Gegenwartszeit.....                                                                       | 191        |
| 4.4.7    | The Origin of Temporal Presentations.....                                                                 | 194        |
| 4.5      | The Phenomenology of the Latent Subject.....                                                              | 196        |
| 4.5.1    | Benussi and Husserl.....                                                                                  | 196        |
| 4.5.2    | Static vs Genetic Phenomenology .....                                                                     | 198        |
| 4.6      | The Benussi-Koffka Dispute. Production Theory vs Gestalt Theory.....                                      | 206        |
| 4.6.1    | s (Sensory) and S (Non-Sensory) Apparent Motions .....                                                    | 206        |
| 4.6.2    | Max Wertheimer, the $\phi$ Phenomenon and "Physiological Short Circuits" .....                            | 211        |
| 4.6.3    | Koffka and Kenkel: The $\beta$ and $\alpha$ Motions.....                                                  | 214        |
| 4.6.4    | Göttingen, 1914 .....                                                                                     | 216        |
| 4.6.5    | Koffka, 1915: The Confrontation with Benussi.....                                                         | 220        |
| 4.6.6    | The Revision of Benussi's Theory .....                                                                    | 232        |
| 4.6.7    | Benussi Between Gegenstandstheorie and Gestalttheorie ....                                                | 234        |

4.7 Psychology of Testimony..... 238

4.7.1 The Psychology of Testimony in the Early Twentieth Century..... 238

4.7.2 Hans Gross and “Criminal Psychology”..... 242

4.7.3 The “Psychological Diagnosis of Facts”:
Max Wertheimer and Julius Klein ..... 245

4.7.4 Carl Gustav Jung and His Diagnostic Studies
on Associations..... 246

4.7.5 Benussi and the Psychophysiology of Emotions ..... 250

4.7.6 Respiratory Symptoms of Lies and Truthfulness ..... 253

5 The Padua Period..... 261

5.1 Suggestion and Hypnosis as “Means of Real Mental Analysis” ..... 261

5.2 The Theoretical and Conceptual Foundations of Real Mental Analysis..... 264

5.2.1 Mental Functions and Their Classification ..... 264

5.2.2 Perception and Its Internal Determinants ..... 267

5.2.3 The “Individual’s Constant Conditions”
(Condizioni Costanti Individuali) ..... 271

5.2.4 The Biological and Adaptive Role of Mental Functions ..... 272

5.3 Hypnosis ..... 274

5.3.1 Suggestion and Hypnosis..... 274

5.3.2 Emotional Functional Autonomy
(Autonomia Funzionale Emotiva)..... 276

5.3.3 The Convergent Validity of Introspective
and Psychophysiological Indices ..... 283

5.3.4 Perception and Hypnosis ..... 291

5.3.5 The “Action Fragments” (Frammenti d’azione) ..... 302

5.4 Benussi and Psychoanalysis ..... 304

5.4.1 The Course on Psycho-Analysis ..... 305

6 Conclusion ..... 319

6.1 Genetic Experimental Phenomenology and Embodiment..... 319

6.2 Psychoanalysis, Cognitive and Affective Neurosciences ..... 326

Appendix..... 333

References..... 343

Index..... 371