

CONTENTS

|                                                                                           |         |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------|
| Preface                                                                            | vii     |
| 1 INTRODUCTION                                                                            | 1       |
| Part I Firms and industries                                                    |         |
| 2 SELECTION ARGUMENTS PRO AND CONTRA THENEOCLASSICAL THEORY OF THE FIRM | 13      |
| 3 BREAKING OPEN THE BLACK BOX: THE NEWTHEORY OF THE FIRM                              | 41      |
| 4 MODELLING THE SELECTION ARGUMENT: NELSONAND WINTER'S EVOLUTIONARY THEORY            | 65      |
| Part II Functional explanation and evolutionary mechanisms                     |         |
| 5 FUNCTIONAL EXPLANATION                                                                  | 89      |
| 6 TWO EVOLUTIONARY MECHANISMS                                                             | 107     |
| Part III Individuals and groups                                                |         |
| 7 ALTRUISM AND UNITS OF SELECTION                                                         | 133     |
| 8 THE CULTURAL EVOLUTION OF BEHAVIOURALDISPOSITIONS                                   | 160     |
| 9 A REALIST RECONSTRUCTION OF ECONOMICEVOLUTIONARY THEORY                             | 192     |
| Notes                                                                          | 217 |
| Bibliography                                                                       | 227     |
| Index                                                                              | 238     |