

Contents

Part I Institutions

1	Internationality: Women in Felix Klein's Courses at the University of Göttingen (1893–1920)	9
	Renate Tobies
2	Academic Education for Women at the University of Würzburg, Bavaria	39
	Katharina Spieß
3	Women and Mathematics at the Universities in Prague	73
	Martina Bečvářová

Part II Couples

4	Grace Chisholm Young, William Henry Young, Their Results on the Theory of Sets of Points at the Beginning of the Twentieth Century, and a Controversy with Max Dehn	121
	Elisabeth Mühlhausen
5	Emma S. and Wladimir S. Woytinsky: An Unusual Couple in Statistics	133
	Annette B. Vogt
6	Stanisława and Otton Nikodym	151
	Danuta Ciesielska

Part III Approaches

7	Arithmetic and Memorial Practices by and Around Sophie Germain in the 19th Century	185
	Jenny Boucard

8	Dorothy Wrinch, 1894–1976	231
	Marjorie Senechal
9	Living by Numbers: The Strategies and Life Stories of Mid-Twentieth Century Danish Women Mathematicians	249
	Lisbeth Fajstrup, Anne Katrine Gjerløff, and Tinne Hoff Kjeldsen

Part IV Perspectives

10	Hearsay, Not-So-Big Data and Choice: Understanding Science and Maths Through the Lives of Men Who Supported Women	281
	Paola Govoni

	Epilogue: Mathematics—Still a Male Domain?	315
	Bibliography	319