

TABLE OF CONTENTS

|                       |     |
|-----------------------|-----|
| Acknowledgements      | i   |
| List of tables        | ix  |
| List of figures       | xi  |
| List of diagrams      | xi  |
| List of maps          | xi  |
| List of abbreviations | xii |

CHAPTER 1: INTRODUCTION 1-19

|                                                       |    |
|-------------------------------------------------------|----|
| 1.0 Background                                        | 1  |
| 1.1 Genetic affiliation                               | 1  |
| 1.2 Origin and history                                | 2  |
| 1.3 Geolinguistic situation                           | 2  |
| 1.4 Tradition and culture                             | 5  |
| 1.4.1 Caste/Ethnic groups                             | 6  |
| 1.4.2 Religion                                        | 6  |
| 1.4.3 Literacy                                        | 6  |
| 1.4.4 Marriage system                                 | 7  |
| 1.4.5 Occupation                                      | 7  |
| 1.5 Some sociolinguistic aspects                      | 7  |
| 1.5.1 Language resources and organizations            | 7  |
| 1.5.2 Language proficiency and multilingualism        | 8  |
| 1.5.3 Domains of language use                         | 8  |
| 1.5.4 Language vitality, transmission and maintenance | 8  |
| 1.5.5 Language attitude                               | 9  |
| 1.5.6 Language development                            | 9  |
| 1.5.7 Writing system                                  | 9  |
| 1.5.8 Dialectal variation                             | 11 |
| 1.6 Theoretical framework                             | 13 |
| 1.6.1 Functional-typological approach                 | 13 |
| 1.6.2 Adaptive approach to grammar                    | 14 |
| 1.7 Database and analysis                             | 14 |
| 1.7.1 Collection of data                              | 14 |
| 1.7.2 Analysis and instances                          | 15 |
| 1.8 Previous works                                    | 15 |
| 1.8.1 Traditional approach                            | 15 |
| 1.8.2 Structural approach                             | 16 |
| 1.8.3 Transformational-generative approach            | 17 |
| 1.8.4 Comparative approach                            | 17 |
| 1.8.5 Functional-typological approach                 | 19 |
| 1.9 Goal and organization                             | 19 |

CHAPTER 2: PHONOLOGY 20-69

|                                              |    |
|----------------------------------------------|----|
| 2.0 Outline                                  | 20 |
| 2.1 Inventory of the consonants              | 20 |
| 2.1.1 Phonological oppositions in consonants | 21 |
| 2.1.2 Sonorant consonants                    | 30 |
| 2.1.3 Distribution of consonants             | 40 |
| 2.2 Vowels                                   | 42 |

|                                                     |    |
|-----------------------------------------------------|----|
| 2.2.1 Inventory of oral monophthongs                | 42 |
| 2.2.2 Phonological contrasts in oral monophthongs   | 43 |
| 2.2.3 Nasal monophthongs                            | 46 |
| 2.2.4 Diphthongs and triphthongs                    | 49 |
| 2.3 Distinctive features                            | 50 |
| 2.3.1 Distinctive features of the consonants        | 50 |
| 2.3.2 Distinctive features of the oral monophthongs | 52 |
| 2.4 Syllable                                        | 52 |
| 2.4.1 Syllable pattern                              | 52 |
| 2.4.2 Syllable structure                            | 52 |
| 2.5 Phoneme-grapheme interface                      | 53 |
| 2.5.1 Phonological facts of representation          | 53 |
| 2.5.2 Historical phonological facts                 | 54 |
| 2.5.3 Orthographic and phonological levels          | 56 |
| 2.6 Morphophonology                                 | 56 |
| 2.6.1 Deletion                                      | 56 |
| 2.6.2 Raising                                       | 59 |
| 2.6.3 Assimilation                                  | 60 |
| 2.6.4 Epenthesis                                    | 66 |
| 2.6.5 Coalescence                                   | 67 |
| 2.6.6 Stress                                        | 67 |
| 2.6.7 Intonation                                    | 68 |
| 2.7 Summary                                         | 68 |

CHAPTER 3: WORD CLASSES

70-114

|                                              |     |
|----------------------------------------------|-----|
| 3.0 Outline                                  | 70  |
| 3.1 Major word classes                       | 70  |
| 3.1.1 Properties of nouns                    | 70  |
| 3.1.2 Properties of adjectives               | 77  |
| 3.1.3 Verbs                                  | 89  |
| 3.1.4 Adverbs                                | 96  |
| 3.2 Minor word classes                       | 99  |
| 3.2.1 Postpositions                          | 99  |
| 3.2.2 Determiners                            | 99  |
| 3.2.3 Compounding and reduplication          | 100 |
| 3.2.4 Independent subject and object pronoun | 102 |
| 3.2.5 Inter-clausal connectives              | 103 |
| 3.2.6 Quantifiers, numerals and ordinals     | 105 |
| 3.2.7 Auxiliary verbs                        | 105 |
| 3.2.8 Interjections                          | 105 |
| 3.2.9 Clitics                                | 107 |
| 3.2.10 Particles                             | 110 |
| 3.3 Summary                                  | 114 |

CHAPTER 4: SIMPLE VERBAL CLAUSES AND ARGUMENT STRUCTURE

115-131

|                                               |     |
|-----------------------------------------------|-----|
| 4.0 Outline                                   | 115 |
| 4.1 Nonverbal or nominal clauses              | 115 |
| 4.1.1 Copular clauses with nominal predicates | 115 |

|                                                          |                |
|----------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| 4.1.2 Copular clauses with adjectival predicates         | 118            |
| 4.1.3 Copular clauses with locative expressions          | 118            |
| 4.1.4 Other copular or copula-like expressions           | 118            |
| 4.2 Verbal predicates                                    | 120            |
| 4.2.1 Argument structure and transitivity                | 120            |
| 4.2.2 Simple intransitive verbs                          | 120            |
| 4.2.3 Simple transitive verbs                            | 121            |
| 4.2.4 Intransitive verbs with an indirect object         | 122            |
| 4.2.5 Transitive verbs with an indirect object           | 122            |
| 4.2.6 Bi-transitive verbs                                | 122            |
| 4.2.7 Non-standard valence patterns                      | 123            |
| 4.2.8 Valence patterns of conjunct verb constructions    | 125            |
| 4.3 Summary                                              | 131            |
| CHAPTER 5: GRAMMATICAL RELATIONS AND CASE MARKING | 132-155 |
| 5.0 Outline                                              | 132            |
| 5.1 Grammatical relations                                | 132            |
| 5.1.1 Overt coding properties                            | 132            |
| 5.1.2 Behaviour-and-control properties                   | 139            |
| 5.2 Case marking system                                  | 145            |
| 5.2.1 Some common patterns                               | 146            |
| 5.2.2 Case determination                                 | 153            |
| 5.3 Summary                                              | 154            |
| CHAPTER 6: NOUN PHRASES AND WORD ORDER            | 156-175 |
| 6.0 Outline                                              | 156            |
| 6.1 Noun phrases                                         | 156            |
| 6.1.1 Simplex noun phrases                               | 156            |
| 6.1.2 Complex noun phrases                               | 160            |
| 6.2 Word order in simple clauses                         | 168            |
| 6.2.1 Order of constituents in simple clauses            | 168            |
| 6.2.2 Order of the constituents in phrases               | 171            |
| 6.2.3 Order of clauses in complex sentences              | 173            |
| 6.2.4 Order of bound morphemes                           | 173            |
| 6.3 Summary                                              | 175            |
| CHAPTER 7: TENSE, ASPECT AND MODALITY             | 176-202 |
| 7.0 Outline                                              | 176            |
| 7.1 Tense                                                | 176            |
| 7.1.1 Past tense                                         | 177            |
| 7.1.2 Future tense                                       | 179            |
| 7.1.3 Present tense                                      | 181            |
| 7.2 Aspect                                               | 183            |
| 7.2.1 Perfective                                         | 183            |
| 7.2.2 Imperfective                                       | 184            |
| 7.2.3 Perfect                                            | 191            |
| 7.3 Modality                                             | 194            |
| 7.3.1 Epistemic modality                                 | 194            |

|                                                                            |                |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| 7.3.2 Evaluative (deontic) modality                                        | 197            |
| 7.4 Mood                                                                   | 199            |
| 7.4.1 Declarative (indicative) mood                                        | 199            |
| 7.4.2 Interrogative mood                                                   | 199            |
| 7.4.3 Imperative mood                                                      | 199            |
| 7.4.4 Optative mood                                                        | 200            |
| 7.4.5 Conditional (subjunctive) mood                                       | 200            |
| 7.4.6 Allocutive agreement                                                 | 201            |
| 7.5 Summary                                                                | 202            |
| CHAPTER 8: NON-DECLARATIVE SPEECH ACTS                              | 203-223 |
| 8.0 Outline                                                                | 203            |
| 8.1 Interrogative speech acts                                              | 203            |
| 8.1.1 Polar questions                                                      | 203            |
| 8.1.2 Constituent questions                                                | 206            |
| 8.1.3 Negative polarity indefinites                                        | 209            |
| 8.2 Manipulative speech acts                                               | 209            |
| 8.2.1 Imperative                                                           | 209            |
| 8.2.2 Hortative                                                            | 212            |
| 8.3. De-transitive voice                                                   | 212            |
| 8.3.1 Reflexive                                                            | 213            |
| 8.3.2 Reciprocals                                                          | 214            |
| 8.3.3 Insertion of dative, benefactive or associative arguments            | 214            |
| 8.4 Passive voice                                                          | 215            |
| 8.4.1 Process of passivization                                             | 220            |
| 8.4.2 Functional domains of passive voice                                  | 222            |
| 8.5 Summary                                                                | 223            |
| CHAPTER 9: MARKED TOPICS AND CONTRASTIVE FOCUS                      | 224-255 |
| 9.0 Outline                                                                | 224            |
| 9.1 Contrastive focus constructions                                        | 224            |
| 9.1.1 Contrastive affixes and quantifiers                                  | 224            |
| 9.1.2 Contrastive strength                                                 | 229            |
| 9.1.3 Contrastive focus, reference and topicality                          | 232            |
| 9.1.4 Assertion scope and contrastive focus: Negation and yes/no questions | 235            |
| 9.1.5 Other focus attractive devices                                       | 236            |
| 9.2 Marked topic constructions                                             | 237            |
| 9.2.1 Existential-presentative constructions                               | 237            |
| 9.2.2 Y-movement                                                           | 240            |
| 9.2.3 Left dislocation                                                     | 240            |
| 9.2.4 Right dislocation                                                    | 243            |
| 9.2.5 Dative-shifting                                                      | 246            |
| 9.2.6 Raising                                                              | 247            |
| 9.3 Summary                                                                | 254            |
| CHAPTER 10: INTER-CLAUSAL COHERENCE                                 | 256-292 |
| 10.0 Outline                                                               | 256            |
| 10.1 Complement clauses                                                    | 256            |

|                                                               |     |
|---------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 10.1.1 Complement-taking PCU predicates                       | 256 |
| 10.1.2 Complement-taking modality predicates                  | 260 |
| 10.1.3 Complement-taking manipulation predicates              | 264 |
| 10.2 Adverbial subordinate clauses                            | 266 |
| 10.2.1 Temporal adverbial clauses                             | 266 |
| 10.2.2 Conditional adverbial clauses                          | 273 |
| 10.2.3 Cause or reason adverbial clauses                      | 276 |
| 10.2.4 Concessive adverbial clauses                           | 277 |
| 10.2.5 Substitutive adverbial clauses                         | 277 |
| 10.2.6 Additive adverbial clauses                             | 278 |
| 10.2.7 Purpose clauses                                        | 279 |
| 10.3 Participial adverbial clauses                            | 280 |
| 10.3.1 Sequential participial clause                          | 280 |
| 10.3.2 Simultaneous participial clause                        | 281 |
| 10.4 Relative clauses                                         | 282 |
| 10.4.1 Non-finite and finite relative clauses                 | 282 |
| 10.4.2 The position of the relative clause vis-à-vis its head | 283 |
| 10.4.3 The mode of expression of the relativized NP           | 284 |
| 10.4.4 Grammatical relations that can be relativized          | 285 |
| 10.5 Clause chaining                                          | 287 |
| 10.5.1 Same-subject chaining                                  | 287 |
| 10.5.2 Different-subject chaining                             | 288 |
| 10.6 Conjoined clauses                                        | 289 |
| 10.6.1 Conjunctive coordinator (conjunction)                  | 289 |
| 10.6.2 Disjunctive coordination (disjunction)                 | 290 |
| 10.6.3 Adversative coordination                               | 290 |
| 10.6.4 Rejection                                              | 291 |
| 10.6.5 Causal coordination                                    | 291 |
| 10.7 Summary                                                  | 292 |

CHAPTER 11: REFERENTIAL COHERENCE 293-318

|                                                                      |     |
|----------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 11.0 Outline                                                         | 293 |
| 11.1 Major morpho-syntactic devices                                  | 293 |
| 11.2 Pronominal system                                               | 293 |
| 11.2.1 Personal pronouns                                             | 293 |
| 11.2.2 Demonstrative pronouns                                        | 296 |
| 11.2.3 Interrogative pronouns                                        | 296 |
| 11.2.4 Indefinite pronouns                                           | 297 |
| 11.3 Anaphoric coherence                                             | 298 |
| 11.3.1 Zero anaphora                                                 | 299 |
| 11.3.2 Unstressed anaphoric pronouns                                 | 300 |
| 11.3.3 Stressed independent pronouns                                 | 300 |
| 11.3.4 R-dislocation, neutral word order and L-dislocation           | 300 |
| 11.3.5 Pronouns and zero anaphors vs. R-dislocated definite full-NPs | 302 |
| 11.3.6 R-dislocated DEF-NPs                                          | 304 |
| 11.3.7 Y-moved NPs (contrastive topicalization)                      | 304 |
| 11.3.8 Cleft/focus constructions                                     | 305 |
| 11.3.9 Referential indefinite NPs                                    | 305 |
| 11.4 Reference and definiteness                                      | 306 |
| 11.4.1 Grammatical marking of indefinite and definite reference      | 306 |

|                                                    |                |
|----------------------------------------------------|----------------|
| 11.4.2 Suffixes for definiteness                   | 307            |
| 11.5 Topic (referential) continuity                | 308            |
| 11.6 Action continuity                             | 311            |
| 11.7 Thematic continuity                           | 314            |
| 11.8 Summary                                       | 318            |
| CHAPTER 12: TYPOLOGICAL IMPLICATIONS        | 319-571 |
| 12.0 Outline                                       | 319            |
| 12.1 Phonological implications                     | 319            |
| 12.1.1 Consonants                                  | 319            |
| 12.1.2 Vowels                                      | 321            |
| 12.1.3 Syllabicity                                 | 321            |
| 12.2 Morphosyntactic implications                  | 325            |
| 12.2.1 Affixation                                  | 325            |
| 12.2.2 Word order                                  | 330            |
| 12.2.3 Morphological valence increasing strategies | 331            |
| 12.2.4 Reflexive and numeral classifiers           | 331            |
| 12.2.5 Verbs with nominal and adjectival functions | 331            |
| 12.2.6 Evidentiality in the verb complex           | 331            |
| 12.2.7 Dative subject construction                 | 331            |
| 12.2.8 Participials                                | 331            |
| 12.2.9 Complex predicates                          | 331            |
| 12.2.10 Cleft construction                         | 331            |
| 12.2.11 Other features                             | 331            |
| 12.3 Levels of adequacies                          | 332            |
| 12.3.1 Descriptive adequacy                        | 333            |
| 12.3.2 Pragmatic adequacy                          | 333            |
| 12.3.3 Cognitive adequacy                          | 333            |
| 12.3.4 Typological adequacy                        | 334            |
| 12.3.5 Explanatory adequacy                        | 334            |
| Annexes                                     | 335-371 |
| References                                  | 372-384 |