

Contents

Editorial note	vii
Ludwig Hirschfeld-Mack family tree	viii
Foreword – Professor Andrew McNamara	x
Preface	1

Part One: Germany (1893–1936)

Childhood	4
War and marriage	12
Becoming an artist	23
Apprenticeship at the Bauhaus	36
Experiments with colour	49
Creative ventures	64
Becoming a teacher	78
Teaching other teachers	91
Living under a Nazi dictatorship	102

Part Two: Britain (1936–40)

A new life in England and Wales	116
A family tragedy	124
The disruptions of war	134
Enemy alien	145

Part Three: Australia (1940–65)

Internment at Hay	152
Internment at Orange and Tatura	167
A new life at Geelong Grammar School	181
Aftermath of war	199
The Art School flourishes	214
Elenor and Ello	225
The final Geelong years	234
Olive and Redro	252
The Bauhaus revisited	265
Farewell, Friend	274

Afterword	286
Sources and references	290
List of illustrations	324
Artworks in public collections	337
Acknowledgements	340
Index	344