

Productivity Perspectives

Edited by

Philip McCann

Professor of Urban and Regional Economics, University of Sheffield, UK

Tim Vorley

Professor of Entrepreneurship, University of Sheffield, UK

 Edward Elgar
PUBLISHING

Cheltenham, UK • Northampton, MA, USA

Contents

List of contributors	vii
Acknowledgements	xi
1 Introduction to Productivity Perspectives Philip McCann and Tim Vorley	1
2 Productivity perspectives: observations from the UK and the international arena Philip McCann	18
3 Measuring productivity Vania Sena	48
4 FDI, capital and investment markets Richard Harris	78
5 Innovation and productivity: a multi-perspective assessment Robert Huggins and Hiro Izushi	103
6 Small business growth and productivity Andrew Henley	129
7 Productivity and the UK's deficiency in scale-ups Colin Mason	147
8 Human capital, skills and productivity Maria Abreu	174
9 Demographic ageing and productivity Katerina Lisenkova	190
10 Inequality, well-being and (inclusive) productivity growth Leaza McSorley	206
11 Contemporary work and employment and the productivity puzzle Kirsty Newsome and Tim Vorley	224
12 Regional and city productivity debates: insights from work undertaken by Cambridge Econometrics Ben Gardiner and Richard Lewney	243
13 Infrastructure and productivity Iain Docherty and David Waite	255

14	From silos to systems: insights and implications for productivity policy Tim Vorley and Jen Nelles	274
15	Productivity policy review Jonathan Cook, Dan Hardy and Imogen Sprackling	293
16	The UK productivity paradox and the governance of UK science and technology policy: lessons from California? Gary Dymski	324
	Index	363