

Contents

List of figures	page vii
Notes on contributors	viii
Introduction	1
Pim Verhulst, Anna McMullan and Jonathan Bignell
1 Beckett's 'adaphatroce' revisited: towards a poetics of adaptation	19
Pim Verhulst
2 Adaptation and convergence: Beckett on Film	34
Jonathan Bignell
3 'Imprecations from the Brighton Road to Foxrock Station': the effect of place on Mouth on Fire's stagings of All That Fall	50
Feargal Whelan
4 Engines of reverence? Beckett, festivals and adaptation	66
Trish McTighe and Kurt Taroff
5 Passing by, gazing upon: gendered agency in adaptations of Come and Go and Happy Days	81
Katherine Weiss
6 'last state last version': adaptation and performance in Gare St Lazare Ireland's How It Is	96
Dúnlaith Bird
7 Intermedial embodiments: Company SJ's staging of Beckett's Company	111
Anna McMullan
8 Beckett, neurodiversity and the prosthetic: the posthuman turn in contemporary art	126
Derval Tubridy
9 Beckett and new media adaptation: from the literary corpus to the transmedia archive	140
David Houston Jones

10	Opera as adaptation: György Kurtág's Samuel Beckett: Fin de partie, scènes et monologues Olga Beloborodova	155
11	Questioning norms in three Beckettian choreographic projections: Maguy Marin, Dominique Dupuy, Joanna Czapkowska Evelyne Clavier	171
12	'I'll give you just enough to keep you from dying': power dynamics disclosed in Tania Bruguera's Endgame Luz María Sánchez Cardona	186
13	Godot noir: Beckett in black and whiteface S. E. Gontarski	202
14	Deferred dreams: waiting for freedom and equality in Nwandu and Beckett Graley Herren	218
15	'How can you photograph words?': expanding the Godot universe from adaptation to transmedia storytelling Luciana Tamas and Eckart Voigts	233
16	The figure of Beckett in four contemporary novels Paul Stewart	249
	Index	263