

Table of Contents

Contributors	vii
Preface	xiii
Introduction: Critical Pedagogy as Public, Scholarly Engagement Ioannis Gaitanidis and Gregory S. Poole	xv
Part 1: Critiquing by Reflection on Acquired Knowledge
1 Reconstructing the Narrative of “Because Japan is an Island”: Discussions of Immigration, Migration, and Refugee Policy Ayako Sasaki	3
2 On Pedagogy and the Personal: Teaching Media, the Nation, and Globalization about/ in Japan Stevie Suan	22
3 Teaching Human Agency in Science through Japanese History Yulia Frumer	38
4 Teaching Gender and the Politics of Reproduction in Japan: Self-Government as a Theoretical Reference Point Isabel Fassbender	51
5 Disentangling “Japanese Religion” in the Classroom Satoko Fujiwara and Ioannis Gaitanidis	67
Part 2: Critiquing by Comparing (with Oneself and with Others)
6 Out of Site, Out of Mind? Ethnographies of Japan, Outside Japan Chris McMorran	85
7 Challenging the Ideas of “Japan” and “Japanese Language” in a Foreign Language Classroom: Linguistic Landscapes Project Yuri Kumagai	99
8 History and Holism: Making Sense of the Anthropology of Japan Nana Okura Gagné	116
9 Deconstructing “Japan” through the Lens of Border Crossing Tomoko Tokunaga	134

10	Applying Intersectionality to Teaching Social Inequalities in Japan Jennifer M. McGuire	150
----	---	-----

Part 3: Critiquing by Creating

11	Undoing “Japan” in Global Education: Three Class Projects for Dismantling Culturalist Portrayals of Society Neriko Musha Doerr	171
12	Japanese Gardens as a Zone of Contact for Teaching Christian Tagsold	192
13	From “Japanese” in the US to “Foreigner” in Japan: Unpacking “Race” in Representations Satoko Shao-Kobayashi	208
14	The Materiality of Mokkan : Creating Sources for Reflection on Text in Ancient Japan Paula R. Curtis	226

Part 4: Critiquing through Curriculum Building

15	The Visual Anthropology of Japan: In and Outside the Classroom Steven C. Fedorowicz	243
16	A Balancing Act: Teaching the Anthropology of Japan at French Universities Alice Berthon, Alice Doublier and Charlotte Lamotte	259
17	Teaching the Japanese Workplace: From Principles to Practice (and Back Again) Jeremy Breaden and Fusako Ota	277
	Index	295