

Guoming Yu

Research on the Communication Effects and Mass Media Credibility in China

The Foundational Theory, Evaluation
Methods and Empirical Analysis

中国财经出版传媒集团
 经济科学出版社
Economic Science Press

 Springer

Contents

Part I A Theoretical Study on Mass Media Credibility

1	Definitions of Key Concepts	3
1.1	The Meaning of Credibility	3
1.1.1	Interpretation of Credibility	3
1.1.2	Relationship Model of Credibility	4
1.1.3	The Logical Starting Point of the Trust	5
1.1.4	Concept Evaluation—Credit	9
1.2	The Meaning of Mass Media Credibility in English	10
1.2.1	Two Viewpoints of Credibility	11
1.2.2	Trust, Credit, Faith, Confidence and Believe	13
1.3	The Definition of Media Credibility	13
1.3.1	The Contractual Relationship Between the Public and Mass Media	15
1.3.2	The Public's Social Expectations and Credibility of the Media	17
1.4	Media Trust in Mass Media System	20
1.5	Maintenance and Regulation of Media Credibility	22
2	Dimensions of Judgment of Mass Media Credibility	25
2.1	Theoretical Framework: A Cognitive Psychology Approach	25
2.1.1	Multi-dimensional Judgment of Media Credibility	25
2.1.2	Multi-dimensional Psychological Analyses—The Schema Theory	26
2.2	Composition and Characteristics of Dimensions of Judgment	29
2.2.1	Composition of Dimensions	29
2.2.2	Characteristics of Credibility Judgments	32
2.3	Comparison of Regional Differences in Dimensions of Judgement	34
2.3.1	Composition of Dimensions of the Subject	35
2.3.2	Comparison of Results and Influencing Factors	40

2.3.3	Two Dimensional Orientations with Different Political Factors	42
2.4	Value Analysis of Dimensions of Judgment	49
2.4.1	Two Dimensions of Judgment	49
2.4.2	Dimension—A Kind of Value Analysis	50
3	Factors Influencing Mass Media Credibility	53
3.1	System Structure of Influencing Factors	53
3.2	The Influencing Factor of Macro Social System	55
3.2.1	Structural Analysis of Social System	55
3.2.2	Two Kinds of Determinism Affecting Credibility	57
3.2.3	Integrity and Dominance of Social System	58
3.2.4	Positive Correlation of the Political Factor and Media Credibility	60
3.3	The Influencing Factor of Micro Audience System	64
3.3.1	Theories: Three Theoretical Models on the Audience	64
3.3.2	Variables of the Audience	67
3.3.3	New Perspectives of Research Theory	70
3.4	The Influencing Factor of Micro Mass Media System	72
3.4.1	Influence of Characteristics of Media Channels	72
3.4.2	Influence of Media Institutions	73
3.4.3	Influence of Pressmen	75
3.4.4	Influence of New Technological Development	77
3.5	The Overall Study of Influencing Factors	80
3.5.1	Systematic Effects of Influencing Factors	80
3.5.2	Downtrend of Media Credibility under a System of Influencing Factors	81
3.5.3	The Systematic Negative Effect of Influencing Factors	82
4	Generative Mechanism and Control Analysis of Mass Media Credibility	87
4.1	Generative Pattern of Media Credibility	87
4.1.1	Horizontal Generative Pattern of Trust	87
4.1.2	Vertical Development Model of Trust	90
4.1.3	Generative Pattern of Media Credibility	91
4.2	Generative Mechanism of Media Credibility	93
4.2.1	Media Frame and Audience Frame	93
4.2.2	Relationship Between Media Frames and Audience Frames	95
4.2.3	Generation of Media Credibility: Duplication of Media Frame and Audience Frame	97
4.3	Development Phases of Media Credibility	98
4.3.1	Rational Calculus Stage	99
4.3.2	Knowledge Stage Between Rational and Emotional	100

4.3.3	Emotional Identification Stage	101
4.3.4	The Development of Three-Level Media Credibility	102
4.4	Control Analysis of Media Credibility Generation	103
4.4.1	Control of the Media Institutional Frame	104
4.4.2	Control of the Personal Frame	106
4.4.3	Text Frame Control	108
5	Impact of Credibility on Media Functions	111
5.1	Analysis of Media Functions	111
5.1.1	Three Perspectives of Media Functions	111
5.1.2	The Two Levels of Analysis Framework for Media Functions	114
5.2	Impact of Credibility on Political Functions of the Media	114
5.2.1	The Political Function of the Media	114
5.2.2	The Impact of Credibility on Agenda-Setting	115
5.2.3	The Impact of Credibility on Political Participation	119
5.2.4	The Impact of Credibility on Public Opinion Supervision	123
5.2.5	The Impact of Credibility on the Political Communications	127
5.2.6	The Impact of Credibility on the Political Control of the Media	129
5.2.7	Influence of Credibility on the Socialization Function of Media	131
5.2.8	Influence of Credibility on Government Image of the Media	133
5.3	Rationality—Premise of Positive Impact of Credibility on Political Functions of the Media	133
5.4	Impact of Credibility on Economic Functions of the Media	135
5.4.1	The Role of Trust in Economy	135
5.4.2	Media Credibility as a Trust Agent in Economic Transactions	138
5.4.3	“Scale” and “Valve”—the Influence of Credibility on the Audience of Different Media	141
5.5	Impact of Credibility on Cultural Function of the Media	144
5.5.1	Inheritance and Shaping—the Cultural Function of the Media	144
5.5.2	The Impact of Credibility on the Inheritance of Media Culture	145
5.5.3	The Influence of Credibility on Shaping of Media Culture	147
5.5.4	Media Credibility, Culture and Social Capital	150
6	Conclusion	153

Part II Study on Measurement Approaches of Mass Media Credibility

7	Literature Review of Measurement Approaches	157
7.1	Social and Historical Processes of Research on Credibility	158
7.1.1	Research on "Source Credibility" During the World War II	158
7.1.2	A Comparative Study of Media Credibility in the 1960s and 1980s	162
7.1.3	Discussion on Credibility from the Multi-Dimensional Perspective in the 1980s	166
7.1.4	Research on Factors of Media Credibility	169
7.2	Development of the Media Credibility Assessment Scale	171
7.2.1	Overview of Research on Credibility Scales	171
7.2.2	Discussion	183
7.3	The Status Quo of Research on China's Media Credibility	187
7.3.1	Research on Media Credibility in Taiwan and Hong Kong	187
7.3.2	Research on Media Credibility in China's Mainland	190
7.4	Summary	194
8	Research Propositions and Design of Measurement Approaches	197
8.1	Research Propositions, Methods and Procedures	197
8.1.1	Research Proposition One	197
8.1.2	Research Proposition Two	197
8.1.3	Research Proposition Three	198
8.2	Design of Questionnaires, Data Samples and Analytical Tools	199
8.2.1	Questionnaire Design	199
8.2.2	Data Samples and Analytical Tools	199
8.3	Summary	200
9	Evaluation Criteria for China's Media Credibility	201
9.1	Chinese Public's Expectations for the Role of Media	201
9.2	Design Ideas of the Importance Scale for Evaluation Criteria of China's Media Credibility	203
9.2.1	Objective I: Developing a Preliminary Set of Indexes for Evaluating Media Credibility	203
9.2.2	Objective II: Establishing Reference Values for Media Credibility Evaluation Index	205
9.2.3	Choices of the Form of the Scale	205
9.3	Design of the Importance Scale	206

9.4	Selection of Media Credibility Evaluation Criteria Based on the Importance Scale	206
9.4.1	First Round of Selection Based on Importance Score	208
9.4.2	Second Round of Selection Based on Distribution of Score	212
9.4.3	Correction of Results and Analysis of Their Characteristics Based on the Differences Among Education Backgrounds	225
9.4.4	Summary of Selection Results of Media Credibility Evaluation Criteria	243
9.4.5	Analysis of the Characteristics of China's Media Credibility Evaluation Criteria	247
9.5	Summary	255
10	Development of China's Media Credibility Assessment Scale	257
10.1	Design of the Assessment Scale of China's Media Credibility	257
10.2	The Fourth Selection of Indexes of China's Media Credibility Assessment Scale	258
10.2.1	Methods of the Fourth Round of Selection	259
10.2.2	Four Selections of Indexes for the Assessment Scale	261
10.2.3	Reliability and Validity Test of the Three Scales	271
10.3	Summary	278
11	Media Credibility Assessment Based on the Survey Specimen	281
11.1	The Overall Credibility of China's Mass Media	282
11.1.1	Scores of Indexes in Media Credibility Evaluation	282
11.1.2	Overall Evaluation Results of Media Credibility	282
11.1.3	Evaluation Results by Groups with Different Education Backgrounds and Comparison of Differences Among Groups	284
11.2	Assessment of Different Media and News Credibility	284
11.2.1	The Credibility Evaluation Results of Different Media	284
11.2.2	Results of Credibility Evaluation of Different Types of News	287
11.2.3	The Credibility Evaluation Results of Different Media	289
11.3	Summary	297
12	Conclusion	299
	References	301