

TABLE OF CONTENTS

Introduction	1
1. Ludwig Börne. Eine Denkschrift by Heinrich Heine
Denkschrift: Mémoire–Mémoires	9
Historical Strands with Dialogical Narrativity	11
Börne, Heine and Emancipation	16
Heine’s and Börne’s Understanding of the New Prosaic Style	17
Signatur: Pseudo–Midrashic Thought Process	25
Traditional Aesthetic and Rhetorical Norms versus Heine’s Pseudo–Midrashic Rhetorical Style.....	27
Pseudo–Midrashic Interpretation of some of Heine’s Key Configurations	42
2. “Cantico del Gallo Silvestre” [Cantic of the Sylvan Cock] in Operette Morali by Giacomo Leopardi	63
Leopardi’s Theory of Language: The Principle of Concomitant Ideas	65
Leopardi’s Concepts of “Parola”[Word], “Voci Proprie” [Associated Words], “Idee Concomitanti”[Concomitant Ideas], and Hebraic Hermeneutics	75
Textual Analogies and Paraphrastic Targumic Influences in Leopardi’s “Cantico del Gallo Silvestre” [Cantic of the Sylvan Cock]	86
Leopardi’s “Cantico del Gallo Silvestre” [Cantic of the Sylvan Cock] as Pseudo–Midrashic, Targumic Commentary	99
Conclusion	113
Notes	119
Selected Bibliography.....	137
Index	143